The Evolution of Regional Uneven Development in Jiangsu Province Under China’s Growth-Oriented State Ideology

By Shutian Huang

Cambridge Scholars Publishing
TABLE OF CONTENTS

List of Figures and Tables .................................................................................. vii

Preface ................................................................................................................ viii
Professor Mark Goodwin

Introduction ........................................................................................................... x
  1. Introduction to the research objects and analytical stance
  2. The structure of the book

Chapter I ............................................................................................................. 1
Theoretical Background and Literature Review
  3. The renaissance of the city-regions and neo-liberal urbanism
  4. Deciphering urban growth beyond urban/local scales
  5. From functional specificity of sociospatial units to polymorphy of sociospatial relations/processes
  6. The conceptualisation of the state

Chapter II ......................................................................................................... 28
Methodology
  7. A general description of the methodology
  8. Methodological feasibility in the context of China

Chapter III ....................................................................................................... 36
Towards a Contextual Framework: Utilitarianism, Pragmatism and China’s State Ideology
  9. From Mao’s general will to Deng’s growth-oriented state ideology
 10. The political-philosophical nature of China’s growth-oriented state ideology: Utilitarianism with Chinese characteristics
 11. The political-philosophical nature of China’s growth-oriented state ideology: Pragmatism with Chinese characteristics
 12. Chapter Summary
Table of Contents

Chapter IV ........................................................................................................ 101
Case Study One: Changzhou City in the South of Jiangsu Province (Part 1)
  13. TVE-driven growth in the south of Jiangsu province
  14. Development zone-driven growth and inter-locality competitions

Chapter V ........................................................................................................ 157
Case Study One: Changzhou City in the South of Jiangsu Province (Part 2)
  15. State-led urbanisation-driven growth

Chapter VI ..................................................................................................... 184
Case Study Two: Nantong City in the North of Jiangsu Province
  16. Slow and inefficient rural industrialisation
  17. Restricted development zone-driven growth
  18. Urbanisation in Nantong city
  19. Mitigated regional unevenness and the case study of Haian county

Chapter VII ................................................................................................. 227
Conclusion and Inspiration
  20. Summary of the findings
  21. A further note on my major analytical approach
  22. A reflection on China’s economic reform in relation to the global trends of neo-liberalism
  23. Inspirations for prospective research and practice: the dialectic between institutions and resources

Bibliography .................................................................................................. 245

Appendix 1 .................................................................................................... 263

Appendix 2 .................................................................................................... 264