CONTENTS

List of Figures xiii
List of Tables xv
Preface xvii

Introduction 1
A. A Different Start in Korea's Economic Development 1
B. The Need for a New Framework 3
C. Developing a New Model 5

PART I: The Miracle of Korea
1. Foundations of Korea's Economic Development 11
1.1. Human Resources 12
1.1.1. Korean Education in the Developing Stage 13
1.1.2. Distinctive Features of Korean Education for Improving Human Resources 14
(1) Lecture-Based Learning and Rote Memorization 14
(2) Learning from the West, While Maintaining Asian Values 15
(3) Mobilizing Different Actors and Approaches 16
(4) Embracing the Growing Demand for Education 17
1.1.3. Education to Improve Human Resources for Korea's Economic Growth 18
1.2. Capital Resources 19
1.2.1. Korean Chaebol in the Developing Stage 19
1.2.2. Distinctive Features of Korean Chaebol for Accumulating Capital Resources 20
(1) Government to Target and Reward the Winners 20
(2) Selective Assimilation of Japanese Conglomerates 21
(3) Efficient Capital Approbation and the Role of Chaebol 22
(4) Cohesive Organizational Culture toward a Single Goal 23
1.2.3. Chaebol to Maximize Capital Formation for Korea’s Economic Growth 24
1.3. Total Factor Productivity (TFP) 24
1.3.1. Korean Government Policies in the Developing Stage 25
1.3.2. Distinctive Features of Korean Government Policies for Enhancing Efficiency 25
(1) Economic Development Plans for Accelerated Growth 25
(2) Learning through Trade-Oriented Policies 26
(3) Structural Transformation and Spillover Effects 27
(4) Enhancing National Goals through Modernizing Rural Areas 28
1.3.3. Government Initiation to Enhance TFP for Korea’s Economic Growth 29

2. Korean Government Leadership for National Growth 31
2.1. The Development Strategy of Korean Governments 32
2.1.1. Nation-Building Stage 33
(1) President Rhee Syng-man (1948–1960) 33
2.1.2. Fast-Growing Stage 34
(1) President Park Chung-hee (Phase 1: 1963–1971) 34
(2) President Park Chung-hee (Phase 2: 1972–1979) 36
2.1.3. Stabilizing Stage 37
(1) President Chun Doo-hwan (1980–1988) 37
(2) President Roh Tae-woo (1988–1993) 39
2.1.4. Restructuring Stage 40
(1) President Kim Young-sam (1993–1998) 40
(2) President Kim Dae-jung (1998–2003) 41
(3) President Roh Moo-hyun (2003–2008) 43
2.1.5. Revitalizing Stage 44
(1) President Lee Myung-bak (2008–2013) 44
(2) President Park Geun-hye (2013–2018) 45
2.2. Implications for Government Policies: Turning Disadvantages into Advantages 46

3. Korean Business Leadership for Corporate Growth 49
3.1. The Founder of POSCO: Park Tae-jun 50
3.1.1. The IBRD Report: Doubts on Korea’s Steel Industry 50
3.1.2. Park Tae-jun’s Leadership for POSCO’s Success 52
3.2. The Founder of Samsung: Lee Byung-chul 54
3.2.1. The Mitsubishi Report: Pessimism on Korea’s Semiconductors 54
PART II. The ABCD Model: A New Framework for Explaining Korea's Economic Success

4. The ABCD Model: The Success Factors of Korea's Economic Growth
   4.1. Agility: Speed Combined with Precision for Increasing Productivity
   4.1.1. Speed
   4.1.2. Precision
   4.2. Benchmarking: Learning the Best Practices for Efficient Catch-up
   4.2.1. Learning
   4.2.2. Best Practice
   4.3. Convergence: Mixing Synergistically for Creating New Value
   4.3.1. Mixing
   4.3.2. Synergy Creation
   4.4. Dedication: Diligence with Goal Orientation for a Strong Commitment
   4.4.1. Diligence
   4.4.2. Goal Orientation
   4.5. The ABCDs: A Comprehensive Framework for Enhancing Competitiveness

5. The ABCD Model: Theoretical Foundation
   5.1. Economic Perspectives on Korea's Growth
   5.1.1. Important Studies on Korea's Success Factors
   5.1.2. Criticism of the Existing Studies
   5.2. Business Perspectives on Firms' Competitive Advantages
   5.2.1. The Industry-Structure View
   5.2.2. The Resource-Based View
   5.2.3. The Dynamic-Capabilities View
   5.2.4. The Institution-Based View
5.2.5. Limitations of Existing Theories and a Need for a New Framework 103

5.3. Theoretical Background of the ABCD Model 104
5.3.1. Agility: Efficient Management of Time and Accuracy 104
5.3.2. Benchmarking: Incremental Innovation through Learning Best Practices 105
5.3.3. Convergence: Dominant Diversification for Maximizing Synergies 107
5.3.4. Dedication: Strengthened Commitment toward an Optimal Goal 109

5.4. Distinctive Features of the ABCD Model Compared to Existing Theories 110

6. The ABCD Model: Application to Korea's Three Successful Firms 113
6.1. Determinants of POSCO's Success 113
6.1.1. Speedy and Precise Construction Process 114
6.1.2. Innovation through Learning Industrial Leaders 115
6.1.3. Global Competition through Effective Diversification 116
6.1.4. From Working Hard to Working Smart 117

6.2. Determinants of Samsung's Success 118
6.2.1. Top-Down Management and Quality Control 119
6.2.2. Improvement after Technology Catch-up through Benchmarking 121
6.2.3. Effective Diversification of Business Structure 122
6.2.4. Constructing a Crisis Culture to Prepare for Future Changes 123

6.3. Determinants of Hyundai's Success 124
6.3.1. Speed and Quality Management 125
6.3.2. Reverse Engineering of the World's Best Cars 126
6.3.3. Hybrid Production System and Effective Connection with Business Partners 127
6.3.4. Improving Human Resource through Education and Training 128

6.4. Implications for Firms' Competitive Advantage 128

PART III. Internationalization: Broadening the Scope of Strategic Choices

7. Internationalization at the National Level 133
7.1. Accelerating Economic Growth  134
  7.1.1. The United States: An Open Country from the Beginning  134
  7.1.2. Japan: Opening of Ports since 1853  136
  7.1.3. China: Open Door Policy since 1978  139
  7.1.4. India: Globalization Strategy since 2000  142
  7.1.5. The Logic behind Internationalization for National Growth  144

7.2. The ABCDs, Internationalization, and Economic Growth  145
  7.2.1. The Sooner, the Better  145
  7.2.2. Learning from Successful Economies  146
  7.2.3. Creating New Advantages by Combining International Diversity  147
  7.2.4. Changing the Goals and Strategies of Internationalization  147

8. Internationalization at the Firm Level  149
  8.1. Enhancing Firms' Competitiveness  150
    8.1.1. Different Perspectives on International Business  150
    8.1.2. From Trade to the Global Value Chain  152
    8.1.3. Re-examining the Benefits of the Global Value Chain  156
    8.1.4. The Logic behind Internationalization for Corporate Growth  158
  8.2. Impacts of Firms' Internationalization on Home and Host Countries  160
    8.2.1. Capital Transfer  161
    8.2.2. Trade Promotion  162
    8.2.3. Industry Growth and Cluster Effects  162
    8.2.4. Technology Development and Innovation  163
  8.3. The ABCDs, Internationalization, and Corporate Growth  164
    8.3.1. Increasing Agility for Efficiency in the Global Value Chain  164
    8.3.2. Pursuing both Global and Local Standards for Sustainable Business  165
    8.3.3. Maximizing Efficiency within the Business Ecosystem  165
    8.3.4. Building Cohesion with the Local Community  165
9. Understanding Internationalization from a Cultural Perspective 167
9.1. Solving Economic and Social Problems 168
9.1.1. The Truth behind the Economic Crisis 168
9.1.2. The Issue of Foreign Workers 170
9.1.3. Structural Problems in the Home Country 173
9.1.4. Government Regulations against Competition 174
9.1.5. The Logic behind the Open Economic Culture for Economic Growth 177
9.2. The ABCDs and Productive Economic Culture 179
9.2.1. Acquiring Speedy Culture 179
9.2.2. Continuous Learning and Upgrading 180
9.2.3. Accepting and Integrating National Differences 180
9.2.4. Mobilizing Culture toward an Optimal Economic Goal 181

PART IV. Korea in the Future
10. New Challenges in Korea 185
10.1. Unproductive Service Sector 186
10.1.1. Fundamental Problems of Korea's Unproductive Service Sector 187
10.1.2. Strategic Guidelines for Improving Productivity of the Service Sector 188
(1) Agility: Reducing Regulations and Increasing Transparency 189
(2) Benchmarking: Targeting Industrial Efficiency and Fair Domestic Competition 189
(3) Convergence: Gearing International Resources for Greater Spillover Effects 190
(4) Dedication: Directing Strategies for Value Creation 190
10.2. Underdeveloped Sociopolitical System 191
10.2.1. Fundamental System Failure in the Sewol Ferry Disaster 191
10.2.2. Strategic Guidelines for Building an Advanced Sociopolitical System 193
(1) Agility: Immediate On-Site Decision-Making 194
(2) Benchmarking: Regular Training prior to Crises 194
(3) Convergence: Combination of Command and Coordination 195
(4) Dedication: Fostering a Professional Mindset and Strong Responsibility 195
10.3. Aging Population 196
10.3.1. The Double-Edged Sword of Rapid Economic Development 197
10.3.2. Strategic Guidelines for Dealing with the Aging Problem 198
   (1) Agility: Focusing on Labor Productivity with Selective Programs 198
   (2) Benchmarking: Utilizing the Older Labor Force by Learning from Business Sectors 198
   (3) Convergence: Synergistically Engaging Different Policy Agendas 199
   (4) Dedication: Turning Diverse Interests into the Creation of New Values 199

11. Upgrading Korea’s Competitive Advantages 201
11.1. Agility: Technology Development and Innovation 202
   11.1.1. Examples from Other Countries: Overcoming Disadvantages through Innovation 202
   11.1.2. The Case of Korea: Future Technology Development 204
   11.1.3. Implications for Technology Strategy 204
11.2. Benchmarking: Differentiation Strategy in the New Competitive Landscape 206
   11.2.1. Examples from Other Countries: Differentiation Strategy 207
   11.2.2. The Case of Korea: Differentiation Strategy in Market Entry 208
   11.2.3. Implications for Differentiation Strategy 209
11.3. Convergence: The Co-evolution Strategy 210
   11.3.1. Examples from Other Countries: International-Linking Clusters 211
   11.3.2. The Case of Korea: Broadening the Scope of Internationalization 213
   11.3.3. Implications for Cluster Strategy 214
11.4. Dedication: Maximizing Shared Value and Business Opportunity 216
   11.4.1. Examples from Other Countries: Nobel Brothers in Azerbaijan 216
   11.4.2. The Case of Korea: Chaebol’s Role in Society 218
   11.4.3. Implications for Strategic Goals 220
12. The Generalization of the ABCD Model 222

12.1. The Generalization of the ABCD Model at the National Level 223

12.1.1. Different Types of Governance System: Korea versus Other Countries 224

12.1.2. The Newly Industrialized Economies: Korea's Competitors 225

12.1.3. The Distinctive Features of Strategies: The Newly Industrialized Economies 227

12.1.4. Korea and the Newly Industrialized Economies: From Competition to Cooperation 231

12.1.5. The ABCD Model: Stage Approach to National Growth 232

12.2. The Generalization of the ABCD Model at the Firm Level 233

12.2.1. The Competitive Strategy for Followers: A Case Study of Xiaomi 234

12.2.2. The Competitive Strategy for Leaders: A Case Study of Apple 236

12.2.3. The ABCD Model: General Guidelines for Both Followers and Leaders 238

Conclusion 241

A. An Accurate View of Economic Development 241

B. Overcoming Difficulties to Create Competitive Advantages 242

C. Proper Direction for Korea's Future Economic Policies 243

D. Deepening and Broadening Strategic Options 244

Notes 247

References 253

Index 277