

The Political Economy of International Law

A European Perspective

Edited by

Alberta Fabbricotti

Faculty of Law, La Sapienza University of Rome, Italy

 Edward Elgar
PUBLISHING

Cheltenham, UK • Northampton, MA, USA

Contents

List of Contributors	vii
Acknowledgements	ix
List of Abbreviations	x
Introduction	1
Alberta Fabbriotti
PART I FRAMEWORK ISSUES
1. Political Economy of International Law: Towards a Holistic Model of State Behaviour	9
Anne van Aaken and Joel P Trachtman
PART II POLITICAL ECONOMY AND THE SOURCES OF INTERNATIONAL LAW
2. The Political Economy of Customary International Law	47
Niels Petersen
3. Can Political Economy Help Solve the Riddle of Customary International Law?	62
Alessandra Gianelli
4. The Political Economy of Jus Cogens	75
Paul B Stephan
5. The Political Economy of International Treaties	95
Panos Merkouris
6. Political Economy and the Decisions of International Organizations: Choosing Governance Arrangements through Informality	127
Ramses A Wessel and Evisa Kica
PART III POLITICAL ECONOMY AND THE ENFORCEMENT OF INTERNATIONAL LAW
7. Political Economy of International Law: A Convenient Alliance for the Study of Compliance?	159
Barbara Delcourt

8. International Political Economy and the Prisoner's Dilemma: Compliance with International Law Meredith Kolsky Lewis	178
9. The Political Economy of Judicial Production of International Law Paul B Stephan	202
10. The Political Economy of the (Non-)Enforcement of International Human Rights Pronouncements by States Andreas von Staden	230
11. The Political Economy of International Lawmaking by National Courts Eyal Benvenisti	258
12. Political Economy and the Responsibility of States: The Problem of Many Hands in International Law André Nollkaemper	278
 PART IV POLITICAL ECONOMY AND SUBSTANTIVE FIELDS OF INTERNATIONAL LAW
13. The Political Economy of Regional Trade Agreements Alberta Fabbriotti	311
14. Political Economy and International Investment Law: The Conclusion of IIAs by Developing Countries during the Twentieth Century Tobias A Lehmann	329
15. Political Economy and International Water Law: Political Economy Induced Changes to the Uptake of Benefit Sharing in International Water Law Laurence Boisson de Chazournes and Christina Leb	356
16. Political Economy and the Protection of Human Rights: Political Economy and Compliance with Human Rights Treaties Ulyana Kohut	384
17. Political Economy and International Migration Law Daniela Vitiello and Marion Panizzon	409
 PART V CONCLUSIONS
18. Political Economy and International Law: Paradoxes and Potential Eyal Benvenisti and Jan Wouters	439
Index	447