HUMAN-COMPUTER INTERACTION AND MANAGEMENT INFORMATION SYSTEMS: APPLICATIONS

DENNIS GALLETTA
PING ZHANG
EDITORS

FOREWORD BY IZAK BENBASAT

ADVANCES IN MANAGEMENT INFORMATION SYSTEMS
VLADIMIR ZWASS SERIES EDITOR

Routledge
Taylor & Francis Group
LONDON AND NEW YORK
CONTENTS

Series Editor’s Introduction
Vladimir Zwass xi

Foreword
Izak Benbasat xiii

1. Applications of Human-Computer Interaction in Management Information Systems: An Introduction
Dennis Galletta and Ping Zhang 1

Part I. Electronic Commerce and the Web

2. Human-Computer Interaction for Electronic Commerce: A Program of Studies to Improve the Communication Between Customers and Online Stores
Izak Benbasat 17

3. Understanding the Direct and Interaction Effects of Web Delay and Related Factors: A Research Program
Dennis Galletta, Raymond M. Henry, Scott McCoy, and Peter Polak 29

4. Pop-Up Animations: Impacts and Implications for Web Site Design and Online Advertising
Ping Zhang 70

Part II. Collaboration Support

5. Bridging Distance: Empirical Studies of Distributed Teams
Judith S. Olson and Gary M. Olson 101

Starr Roxanne Hiltz, Jerry Fjermestad, Rosalie J. Ocker, and Murray Turoff 119
7. Collaboration Technologies, Tasks, and Contexts: Evolution and Opportunity

Ilze Zigurs and Bjørn Erik Munkvold

Part III. Culture and Globalization

8. Toward Reliable Metrics for Cultural Aspects of Human-Computer Interaction: Focusing on the Mobile Internet in Three Asian Countries

Jinwoo Kim, Inseong Lee, Boreum Choi, Se-Joon Hong, Kar Yan Tam, and Kazuaki Naruse

9. Cultural and Globalization Issues Impacting the Organizational Use of Information Technology

Geoffrey S. Hubona, Duane Truex III, Jijie Wang, and Detmar W. Straub

Part IV. Learning and Training

10. Technology-Based Training: Toward a Learner-Centric Research Agenda

Sharath Sasidharan and Radhika Santhanam

11. Developing Training Strategies with an HCI Perspective

Lorne Olffman, Robert P. Bostrom, and Maung K. Sein

12. The Learning Objects Economy: What Remains to Be Done?

Conrad Shayo and Lorne Olffman

Part V. User-Centered IS Development

Glenn J. Browne

14. Dimensions of Participation in Information Systems Design

John M. Carroll and Mary Beth Rosson

Part VI. Health Care/Health Informatics

15. Technology-Enabled Transformations in U.S. Health Care: Early Findings on Personal Health Records and Individual Use

Ritu Agarwal and Corey M. Angst

16. Organizational and Individual Acceptance of Assistive Interfaces and Technologies

Adriane B. Randolph and Geoffrey S. Hubona
Part VII. Methodological Issues and Reflections

17. Conducting Experimental Research in HCI: From Topic Selection to Publication
   Alan R. Dennis, Monica J. Garfield, Heikki Topi, and Joseph S. Valacich 403

18. Soft Versus Hard: The Essential Tension
   John M. Carroll
   424

Editors and Contributors
Series Editor
Index