Contents

- List of figures, tables and boxes: x
- Author biographies: xii

1 Introduction
- Structure of the book: 3
- The first phase of the study: 4
- Summary: 6

2 Internal influences on women entrepreneurs
- Characteristics of women entrepreneurs: 9
- The gendered nature of entrepreneurship: 12
- Entrepreneurial learning: 14
- Entrepreneurial self-efficacy: 16
- Summary: 19

3 External influences on women entrepreneurs
- Human capital – education and experience: 27
- Social capital: 29
- Formal business advice and support: 34
- Summary: 37

4 Coaching as a technique for development
- What is coaching?: 46
- Differences and similarities between coaching and other development interventions: 49
- Types of coaching: 51
- Coaching models: 52
- Barriers and boundaries in coaching: 54
- Benefits and limitations of coaching relationships: 55
- E-coaching and e-mentoring: 58
- Coaching and self-efficacy: 61
- Summary: 64
5 The potential of coaching for women entrepreneurs
Coaching in small businesses
Phase one – women entrepreneurs: demographics
Women’s business support requirements
The potential of coaching for women entrepreneurs
Qualities and skills of a coach
Viability of online methods of coaching
Considerations for developing coaching for women entrepreneurs
Summary

6 Delivering the Tailored E-Coaching (TEC) programme
Definition of coaching used in the TEC programme
Core components of the TEC programme
Application and matching process
Networking events
The website
Evaluation
Evaluation objectives
Control group
Data collection
Questionnaires
Entrepreneurial self-efficacy and business support questionnaire design
Entrepreneurial attitudes questionnaire design
General evaluation questionnaire design
Interview design
Data analysis
Questionnaire data
Interview data
Summary

7 The impact of the TEC programme on human and social capital
Phase two: coachees and the control group:
Development objectives and goals
Increasing human and social capital
Improving perceptions
Contents

Coach outcomes 134
Summary 136

8 Entrepreneurial learning in coaching relationships 141
  Learning through practice 142
  Learning through reinforcement 144
  Learning through understanding 146
  Learning about self 149
  Summary 151

9 Implications for theory and practice 157
  Contribution to theoretical debate 157
  Online communication 163
  Economic benefits 165
  Transferability to other groups and settings 167
  A reciprocal relationship 168
  Recommendations for future research 169
    Coachee perceptions 170
    Online textual analysis 171
    More longitudinal research 172
    360 degree feedback 172
    Dysfunctional relationships 173
  Summary 174

Index 181