RECONSTRUCTING URBAN ECONOMICS
TOWARDS A POLITICAL ECONOMY OF THE BUILT ENVIRONMENT

Franklin Obeng-Odoom
CONTENTS

List of figures and tables | vi
Preface | vii

Introduction: dissent and reconstruction ........................................ 1

PART ONE  ESTABLISHING PRINCIPLES FOR URBAN PROGRESS

1 Scaffolding the principles and values of reconstruction ............. 15
2 The urban challenge ................................................................. 36
3 The urban economy ................................................................. 55

PART TWO  ANALYSING MATERIAL CONDITIONS IN CITIES

4 Urban economic growth: globalisation, trade, and convergence ........................................ 83
5 Informal economies ................................................................. 107
6 Urban poverty; socio-spatial inequality ..................................... 134

PART THREE  CREATING A SOCIO-ECOLOGICALLY SENSITIVE FUTURE

7 Housing ................................................................. 161
8 Homo automobilus ................................................................. 184
9 Sustainable urban development ............................................. 201

Conclusion: towards a political economy of the built environment ........................................ 228

References | 237
Index | 274