The New Pension Mix in Europe

Recent Reforms, Their Distributional Effects and Political Dynamics
Table of Contents

List of Abbreviations .......................................................................................................................... 9

Acknowledgments ................................................................................................................................. 15

The New Pension Mix in Europe. Reform Trends, Policy and Political Challenges, Open Research Questions .......................................................................................................................... 17
  David Natali

Italian Pensions from “Vices” to Challenges. Assessing Actuarial Multi-pillarization Twenty Years on ................................................................................................................................. 45
  Matteo Jessoula and Michele Raitano

France: Squaring the Circle of Unification in a Fragmented Pension System ..................................................... 73
  Marek Naczyk

Reforming Pensions in Finland. Multi-pillar Stability in the Context of Changes within the First Pillar ................................................................................................................................. 99
  Mikko Kautto

Instability Despite Consensus. The Reversal of Private Pensions in Poland ......................................................... 125
  Igor Guardiancich

The Netherlands. The Challenges Posed by the Unintended Universal Financialization of Retirement Provision ............................................................................................................................. 151
  Johan De Deken

Britain’s Pension Reforms: a New Departure? ................................................................................................. 183
  Noel Whiteside

The Role of Trade Unions in Pension Policymaking and Private Pension Governance in Europe .................. 207
  Bernhard Ebbinghaus
The Changing EU "Pension Programme".
Policy Tools and Ideas in the Shadow of the Crisis.........................239
  Igor Guardiancich and David Natali

The New Pension Mix in Europe.
Inequality and Two Further Risks..................................................267
  David Natali

List of Contributors..............................................................................291