Behavioral Corporate Finance

Concepts and Cases for Teaching Behavioral Finance

Second Edition

Hersh Shefrin
Department of Finance
Santa Clara University
Table of Contents

Preface to the Second Edition xiv
Acknowledgments xix

Chapter 1
Behavioral Foundations 1
1.1 Traditional Corporate Financial Decisions and Psychological Tasks 1
   Dual Systems 3
1.2 Biases 4
   Excessive Optimism 4
   Overconfidence 6
   Confirmation Bias 8
   Illusion of Control 9
1.3 Heuristics 11
   Representativeness 11
   Availability 12
   Anchoring and Adjustment 13
   Affect Heuristic 14
   Interacting Phenomena 15
1.4 Framing Effects 16
   Loss Aversion 16
   The Fourfold Risk Pattern 17
   Framing Pitfalls 19
   Prospect Theory 21
   Aspiration Points 22
1.5 Mitigating Pitfalls 23
   Summary 25
   Additional Behavioral Readings 26
   Key Terms 26
   Explore the Web 27
   Chapter Questions 27

Additional Resources and Materials for Chapter 1 Are Available at www.mhhe.com/shefrin2e 30
   Minicase: Panama Canal 30
   Case Analysis Questions 31
A1.1 Questionnaire A1-1
A1.2 Representativeness and Bayes’ Rule A1-8
A1.3 Formal Structure of Prospect Theory A1-10

Chapter 2
Introduction to Behavioral Analysis 32
2.1 Traditional Treatment of Corporate Financial Decisions 32
2.2 Behavioral Treatment of Corporate Financial Decisions 33
2.3 Analyzing Biases 35
   Excessive Optimism 36
   Overconfidence 38
   Confirmation Bias 40
   Illusion of Control 40
2.4 Analyzing Heuristics 41
   Representativeness 41
   Availability 41
   Anchoring and Adjustment 42
   Affect Heuristic 42
2.5 Value Destruction and Sun’s Endgame 43
2.6 Analyzing Framing Effects 44
   Loss Aversion 46
   Aversion to a Sure Loss 48
   Lawsuits and Aftermath 49
2.7 Debiasing and Nudges 51
   Summary 52
   Additional Behavioral Readings 53
   Key Terms 53
   Explore the Web 53
   Chapter Questions 53

Additional Resources and Materials for Chapter 2 Are Available at www.mhhe.com/shefrin2e 55
   Minicase: Nuclear Meltdown at Fukushima Daiichi 55
   Case Analysis Questions 57
A2.1 Minicase: Hurricanes and Psychology: From Wall Street of the Southwest to the Big Easy A2-1
   Case Analysis Questions A2-4

Chapter 3
Valuation 58
3.1 Traditional Approach to Valuation 58
3.2 Target Price Heuristics 59
Chapter 3

3.3 A CFO's Reliance on Valuation Heuristics 61
3.4 How Analysts Value Firms: An Illustrative Example 61

Analyst Mary Meeker 61
The Morgan Stanley Team's Mid-2004 Price Target for eBay 62

3.5 Valuation Heuristics and Biases: In Foresight 66
Optimism Bias: In Foresight 66
Biases Associated with P/E, PEG, and PVGO: In Foresight 69
Biases Related to the I/n Heuristic: In Foresight 71
Biases Using the CAPM Heuristic: In Foresight 72

3.6 Valuation Heuristics and Biases: In Hindsight 72

3.7 Biases Associated with Free Cash Flow Formula 75

3.8 Agency Conflicts 77
Summary 77
Additional Behavioral Readings 78
Key Terms 78
Explore the Web 78
Chapter Questions 79

Chapter 4

Capital Budgeting 85

4.1 Traditional Treatment of Capital Budgeting 85
4.2 The Planning Fallacy 86
The Planning Fallacy in Aircraft Manufacturing 87

4.3 Excessive Optimism and Overconfidence in Capital Budgeting 88
Excessive Optimism in Public-Sector Projects 88
Excessive Optimism in Private-Sector Projects 89
Agency Conflict Determinants of Excessive Optimism 91
Overconfidence 92
Psychological Determinants of Excessive Optimism and Overconfidence 92

4.4 Project Adoption Criteria 95
The Importance of Intuition 96
The Affect Heuristic 97
Choice, Value, and the Affect Heuristic 97

4.5 Reluctance to Terminate Losing Projects 99
Aversion to a Sure Loss 99
Escalation of Commitment 101

4.6 Confirmation Bias and Sunk Costs: Illustrative Example 102
Behavioral Bias and Agency Conflicts at Syntex 103
Summary 105
Additional Behavioral Readings 105
Key Terms 106
Explore the Web 106
Chapter Questions 106

Additional Resources and Materials for Chapter 3 Are Available at www.mhhe.com/shefrin2e 81
Minicase: Aetna 81
Case Analysis Questions 84
A3.1 Definition and Derivation of Free Cash Flow A3-1
A3.2 Growth Opportunity Bias (GOB) A3-3
A3.3 Biases Associated with the Textbook Free Cash Flow Formula A3-6
A3.4 Detailed Chronology of eBay, 2003–2014 A3-9
A3.5 Minicase: Palm Inc. A3-11
Case Analysis Questions A3-12

Additional Resources and Materials for Chapter 4 Are Available at www.mhhe.com/shefrin2e 107
Minicase: MGM Resorts International: Las Vegas CityCenter 107
Case Analysis Questions 109
A4.1 Detailed Description of Airbus's A380 and Boeing's 787 A4-1
A4.2 Using Forecasts Prepared by Others Implications A4-6
A4.3 Cost Accounting A4-6
Chapter 5
Inefficient Markets and Corporate Decisions 110

5.1 Traditional Approach to Market Efficiency 110
5.2 Behavioral Approach to Market Efficiency 111
   Irrational Exuberance and Stocks as a Whole 112
   Sentiment Beta 112
   Limits to Arbitrage 113
   Risk and Sentiment 114
   Managerial Decisions: Market Timing and Catering 114
5.3 Market Efficiency, Earnings Guidance, and NPV 115
5.4 Stock Splits 116
   Example: Tandy’s Stock Split 117
5.5 To IPO or Not to IPO? 118
   Three Phenomena 118
   IPO Decisions 119
Summary 126
Additional Behavioral Readings 126
Key Terms 126
Explore the Web 126
Chapter Questions 127
Minicase: The IPOs of Groupon, Facebook, and Twitter 128
   Case Analysis Questions 130

Chapter 6
Perceptions about Risk and Return 131

6.1 Traditional Treatment of Risk and Return 131
6.2 Psychological Issues Estimating the Market Risk Premium 133
   Die-Rolling 134
   Extrapolation Bias: The Hot-Hand Fallacy 135
   Gambler’s Fallacy 136
6.3 Biases in Financial Executives’ Judgments of Market Risk Premium 136
   Overview 137

Chapter 7
Capital Structure 149

7.1 Traditional Approach to Capital Structure 149
7.2 Behavioral Considerations Pertaining to Financing and Investment 151
7.3 How Do Managers Make Choices About Capital Structure in Practice? 153
   New Equity: Market Timing 154
   New Debt: Financial Flexibility and Debt Timing 155
   Target Debt-to-Equity Ratio 155
   Traditional Pecking Order 157
7.4 Market Timing: How Successful? 157
   Perception of Overvalued Equity: New Issues 158
   Perception of Undervalued Equity: Repurchases 159
   Debt Market Timing 160
7.5 Financial Flexibility and Project Hurdle Rates 161
   Undervalued Equity: Cash-Poor Firms Reject Some Positive NPV Projects 161
   Undervalued Equity for Cash-Limited Firms: Invest or Repurchase? 161
7.6 Sensitivity of Investment to Cash Flow 163
Chapter 8
Dividend Policy 180

8.1 Traditional Approach to Payouts 180
8.2 Dividends and Investors: Psychology 181
8.3 Survey Data Describing How Managers Think about Dividends 185
8.4 Dividend Policy and Investors' Tastes 189

Additional Resources and Materials for Chapter 8
Are Available at www.mhhe.com/shefrin2e 196
Minicase: Apple 196
Case Analysis Questions 198

Chapter 9
Agency Conflicts and Corporate Governance 200

9.1 Traditional Approach to Agency Conflicts 200
9.2 Paying for Performance in Practice 201
9.3 Psychological Phenomena 204
9.4 Incentives, Accounting, Auditing, and Psychology 209
9.5 Sarbanes-Oxley and COSO 212
9.6 Fraud and Stock Options: Illustrative Example 213
9.7 Ethics and Cheating 217

Case Analysis Questions A9-1

A8.1 Minicase: Nipsco A8-1
Case Analysis Questions A8-1

A9.1 From the Mouths of Board Members: Direct Quotations A9-1
A9.2 Minicase: Tyco A9-1
Case Analysis Questions A9-2
Chapter 10
Mergers and Acquisitions 227

10.1 Traditional Approach to M&A 227
10.2 The Winner’s Curse 228
10.3 Optimism, Overconfidence, and Other Psychological Phenomena Impacting Acquiring Executives 228

   Psychological Drivers of Risk in M&A 231
   Reference Point-Based Heuristic Effects on Deal Negotiations 232

10.4 Theory 233

   Symmetric Information, Rational Managers, and Efficient Prices 233
   Excessive Optimism and Overconfidence When Prices Are Efficient 234
   Inefficient Prices, the Acquisition Premium, and Catering 235
   Asymmetric Information and the Winner’s Curse 237

10.5 AOL Time Warner: The Danger of Trusting Market Prices 238

   Strategy and Synergy 238
   Valuation 238
   Asset Writedown 240
   Hubris 242
   Aftermath 242

10.6 Hewlett-Packard and Compaq Computer: Board Decisions 243

   The Merger Alternative 243
   Psychological Basis for the Decision to Acquire Compaq 244
   Valuation 244
   HP’s Board Accepts Reality 246
   Aftermath 247

   Summary 248
   Additional Behavioral Readings 249
   Key Terms 249
   Explore the Web 249
   Chapter Questions 249

Additional Resources and Materials for Chapter 10 Are Available at www.mhhe.com/shefrin2e 251

Minicase: Yahoo! 251

   Case Analysis Questions 255

A10.1 Avoiding the Winner’s Curse A10-1

   Analytical Solution A10-1

A10.2 Two Monty Hall Problems A10-6
A10.3 Illustrative Example: Cisco Systems A10-8

   Cerent Corporation A10-10
A10.4 Illustrative Example: AT&T A10-13
A10.5 Illustrative Example: 3Com and U.S. Robotics A10-14

   Risks and Benefits A10-14
   Outcome A10-15
A10.6 Illustrative Example: PSA Peugeot Citroen SA and Daimler Chrysler AG A10-16

   Additional Questions A10-17

Chapter 11
Financial Management and Group Process 257

11.1 Traditional Approach to Financial Management 257
11.2 Process Loss 258
11.3 General Reasons for Group Errors 259

   Groupthink 259
   Poor Information Sharing 260
   Inadequate Motivation 262

11.4 The Global Financial Crisis: Experiences of Different Firms 262

   Financial Instability Hypothesis 263
   Problematic Group Process and Psychological Phenomena at Financial Firms 264

   Summary 266
   Additional Behavioral Readings 267
   Key Terms 267
   Explore the Web 267
   Chapter Questions 267

Additional Resources and Materials for Chapter 11 Are Available at www.mhhe.com/shefrin2e 268

Minicase: Toshiba 268

   Case Analysis Questions 269

A11.1 Enron and Worldcom A11-1

   Enron A11-1
   Imagine Yourself in the Boardroom A11-4
   WorldCom A11-4

A11.2 Decision Making at PSINet A11-5
A11.3 Behavioral Aspects of Fairness A11-6

   Fairness and Confidence A11-9
Chapter 12
Application of Real-Option Techniques to Capital Budgeting and Capital Structure 270

The remaining contents of this chapter are available at www.mhhe.com/shefrin2e 270

Chapter 12
Application of Real-Option Techniques to Capital Budgeting and Capital Structure A12-1

12.1 Traditional Approach to Option Theory A12-1
12.2 Do Managers Use Real-Option Techniques? A12-2
   - Opaque Framing? A12-3
   - More Than a Decade Later: Have Viewpoints Changed? A12-6
12.3 Valuing Levered Equity A12-6
   - Example A12-6
12.4 Conflicts of Interest A12-10
   - Example: Small-Scale Project A12-10
   - Asset Substitution A12-11
   - Debt Overhang A12-11
   - Capital Structure A12-12
12.5 Overconfidence and Excessive Optimism A12-13
   - Overconfidence A12-13
   - Excessive Optimism A12-14
   - Capital Structure A12-18
Summary A12-19
Additional Behavioral Readings A12-19
Key Terms A12-20
Explore the Web A12-20
Chapter Questions A12-20
Minicase: The Savings and Loan Crisis of the 1980s A12-21
   - Case Analysis Question A12-22

Chapter 13
Behavioral Aspects of Investments 271

The remaining contents of this chapter are available at www.mhhe.com/shefrin2e 271

Chapter 13
Behavioral Aspects of Investments A13-1

13.1 Traditional Approach to Investments A13-1
13.2 Psychology and Market Efficiency A13-3
   - Anomalies and Pricing Factors A13-3
   - Long-Term Reversals: Winner–Loser Effect A13-5
   - Momentum: Short-Term Continuation A13-5
   - Post-Earnings-Announcement Drift A13-6
   - Fixed Income Securities: The Expectations Hypothesis A13-7
   - Options: Implied Volatility Function A13-7
13.3 Limits of Arbitrage A13-8
   - Pick-a-Number Game A13-9
13.4 Closed-End Funds A13-10
13.5 The Baker-Wurgler Sentiment Index A13-11
13.6 Risk and Return: Susceptibility to Representativeness and the Affect Heuristic A13-12
   - Example A13-13
   - Risk, Affect, Representativeness, and Bias A13-13
   - Categorization A13-17
13.7 Sell-Side Analysts' Judgments of Expected Return A13-17
13.8 Active and Passive Investing A13-18
13.9 Forecasting Market Returns and Risk Premiums A13-20
   - Individual Investors and the Hot-Hand Fallacy A13-21
   - Professional Forecasters and Gambler's Fallacy A13-22
   - Market Forecasts Made by Portfolio Managers and Analysts A13-24
13.10 Realizing Gains and Losses: The Disposition Effect A13-25
   - Psychological Phenomena Underlying the Disposition Effect A13-25
   - Disposition Behavior A13-26
Valuation: The Endowment Effect and Responsibility  A13-28
Momentum and the Disposition Effect  A13-29

13.11 Individual Investors' Stock Trades: Overconfidence  A13-30

13.12 Attention and Familiarity  A13-31

13.13 Fundamental Analysis and Technical Analysis  A13-33

13.14 Behavioral Portfolio Selection Framework  A13-35

13.15 Dividends, Self-Control, and Consumption  A13-41

13.16 Retirement Saving  A13-45

13.17 Financial Planners  A13-48

Financial Literacy  A13-48
Big Five  A13-49
Nudging Investors  A13-51

13.18 Investment Committees  A13-52

Homogeneity  A13-52
Size  A13-53
Confirmation Bias  A13-53
Overconfidence  A13-53

Summary  A13-53

Additional Behavioral Readings  A13-54
Key Terms  A13-54
Explore the Web  A13-55
Chapter Questions  A13-55

Minicase: Two Foundations: Hewlett and Packard  A13-59

Case Analysis Questions  A13-61

Glossary 272
Endnotes 275
Index 294