THE CURIOUS MARKETER

Expeditions in Branding and Consumer Behaviour

HARISH BHAT

Foreword by R. GOPALAKRISHNAN
Contents

Foreword xi

Introduction: Curiosity and the Marketer xiii

Section 1: Places

New Places Are Hotbeds for New Ideas 3

1. Why You Should Go to Ujjain 5
2. A Delicious Bite of the Big Apple 10
3. Shopping in London 15
4. Why Marketers Should Visit Museums 20
5. The Call of the Wild 25
6. Walking Trails, Apricots and Wine Taverns 30
7. How Music Can Shape the Marketing Dance 35
8. A Kilo of Shakespeare, a Few Grams of Tiramisu 40
9. Let’s Start at the Very Beginning 45

Section 2: Products

Look at Old Products with Fresh Eyes 53

1. God’s Own Chips 55
2. Honey, I Need You 60
3. Who Needs an Umbrella? 65
4. Will You Have a Cup of Heavenly Dew? 70
5. On Palaces with Wings . . . 75
6. Socked—by All That Colour Out There 80
7. The Tango with the Mango 85
8. Licence to Be a Child, Once Again 90

Section 3: People and Books

Great Teachers 97

1. Timeless Lessons from a Titan 99
2. Boxer, Marketer, Talker, Icon 104
3. The Orchestration of Magic 109
4. Brands Should Tell Stories Like He Did 114
5. Why Do People Misbehave? 119
6. God of Small Data 124
7. The Insights Octopus 129
8. Brains and Brands 134

Section 4: Festivals and Events

A Feast at Every Festival 143

1. Marketing Lessons from Ganesha 145
2. My Tryst with Colour 150
3. Facebook Janmashtami and Champagne Modaks 154
4. Break Down All Those Walls! 159
5. Football, Monsoon and Father’s Day 164
6. The Many Colours of Shopping 169
7. Hooray, Hooray, Let Us Market Holidays 174
Contents

8. What Indian Women Want 179
9. The Metamorphosis of the Diwali Shopper 184
10. Running Circles Around Brands 189

Section 5: Promotion, Packaging and Pricing
Occasional Visits to Other Planets 197
1. Your Price Tag’s Different from Mine 199
2. When Brands Play Hard to Get 204
3. Leading the Pack 209
4. What’s in a Customer’s Name? 214
5. Advertising Peeks Out of the Closet 219
6. Brands and the Weight Loss Circus 224
7. Twinkle, Twinkle, Little Star 229
8. Where Have All the Contests Gone? 234
9. Comeback Product 239
10. Of Chocolate, Tea and Flying Saucers 244
11. Do You Want to Own a Piece of History? 249
12. Why Less Is More 254

Section 6: Consumer Behaviour
Sunday Musings 261
1. The Shifting Sands of Trust 263
2. Consumers and the Need for Speed 269
3. 3-D Marketing 274
4. The Art of Insightful Consumer Observation 279
5. The Art of Creative Consumer Segmentation 284
6. Brands Are Wonderful Time Machines 289
Contents

7. Politics and the Art of Branding  294
8. The Psychology of Brand Colours  299
9. The Elusive Secrets of Cool Brands  304

Epilogue  311
Acknowledgements  315
Appendix  319