Celebrity, Convergence and Transformation

Edited by
Douglas Brownlie, Paul Hewer and Finola Kerrigan
Contents

Citation Information

Notes on Contributors

---

Introduction: Celebrity, convergence and transformation
Douglas Brownlie, Paul Hewer and Finola Kerrigan

1. Marketing and the cultural production of celebrity in the era of media convergence
Chris Hackley and Rungpaka Amy Hackley

2. Puppets of necessity? Celebritisation in structured reality television
Alex Thompson, Lindsay Stringfellow, Mairi Maclean, Andrew MacLaren and Kevin O’Gorman

3. Producing and consuming celebrity identity myths: unpacking the classed identities of Cheryl Cole and Katie Price
Hayley L. Cocker, Emma N. Banister and Maria G. Piacentini

4. The spectacularization of suffering: an analysis of the use of celebrities in ‘Comic Relief’ UK’s charity fundraising campaigns
Ming Lim and Mona Moufahim

5. ‘And Ziggy played guitar’: Bowie, the market, and the emancipation and resurrection of Ziggy Stardust
Andrew Lindridge and Toni Eagar

6. Nigellissima: a study of glamour, performativity and embodiment
Lorna Stevens, Benedetta Cappellini and Gilly Smith

7. Fabricating celebrity brands via scandalous narrative: crafting, capering and commodifying the comedian, Russell Brand
Scott Mills, Anthony Patterson and Lee Quinn
CONTENTS

8 The authentic celebrity brand: unpacking Ai Weiwei’s celebritised selves
   Chloe Preece 164

9 The production and consumption activities relating to the celebrity artist
   Ian Fillis 194

10 Unpacking celebrity brands through unpaid market communications
    Fiona Davies and Stephanie Slater 213

11 Celebrities as human brands: an investigation of the effects of personality and time on celebrities’ appeal
    Renaud Lunardo, Olivier Gergaud and Florine Livat 233

Index 261