Contents

1 Introduction: Marxian Value Theory in New Times 1

1.1 New Directions in Marxian Value Theory 2
1.2 The New Reading of Marx 3
1.3 The Rise of Postoperaismo 6
1.4 What Does It Mean to Be Critical? 7
1.5 This Book's Contribution 9
1.6 Ideology Critique as Social Critique 10
1.7 Chapter Outlines 12
Bibliography 17

Part I The New Reading of Marx 21

2 Value, Time and Abstract Labour 23

2.1 Introduction 23
2.2 Value in the New Reading of Marx 24
2.3 Political Economy and Its Critique 27
2.4 Outline of Marx's Theory of Value 30
2.5 From Traditional Marxism to Value-Form Theory 35
2.6 The Social Validation of Abstract Labour-Time 38
2.7 Socially Necessary Labour Time 40
CONTENTS

2.8 Time in the Circuit of Capital 45
2.9 Conclusion 49
Bibliography 50

3 Money and the Exchange Abstraction 53
3.1 Introduction 53
3.2 A Monetary Theory of Value 54
3.3 The Kantian Schema 56
3.4 The Capitalist Schema 59
3.5 The Social Synthesis 60
3.6 Non-empirical Reality 64
3.7 Conclusion 69
Bibliography 69

4 Labour in the Valorisation Process 71
4.1 Introduction 71
4.2 Researching Value in and Beyond Labour 72
4.3 Modes of Existence 75
4.4 The Workers' Inquiry Tradition 81
4.5 The Life Trajectory of the Commodity 85
4.6 The Labour Process as Carrier of the Valorisation Process 91
4.7 Why Work? 97
4.8 Conclusion 101
Bibliography 101

5 Class, Critique and Capitalist Crisis 105
5.1 Introduction 105
5.2 The Negative Dialectics of Economic Objectivity 106
5.3 The Historical and Logical Premise of the Value-Form 112
5.4 Class and the Commodity Fetish 117
5.5 Contemporary Confusions 122
5.6 Crisis and Class Antagonism 126
5.7 Conclusion 134
Bibliography 135
Part II  Postoperaismo  139

6  Immanence, Multitude and Empire  141
   6.1 Introduction  141
   6.2 Operaismo to Postoperaismo  142
   6.3 From the Refusal to the Celebration of Work  147
   6.4 Immanence Against Dialectics  152
   6.5 Perversion and Productivism  157
   6.6 Conclusion  165
Bibliography  166

7  The Fragment on Machines  169
   7.1 Introduction  169
   7.2 Fragment-Thinking  170
   7.3 The Communism of Capital  174
   7.4 Too Unlimited  177
   7.5 Measurement and Violence  182
   7.6 Conclusion  187
Bibliography  188

8  A Crisis of Measurability  191
   8.1 Introduction  191
   8.2 Immaterial Labour and the Crisis of Measurability  193
   8.3 Critiques of Immaterial Labour  198
   8.4 Within and Against the Labour Theory of Value  206
   8.5 The Novelty of Immaterial Labour  208
   8.6 Concrete Existence and Immediate Abstractness  209
   8.7 Immeasurable Productiveness  214
   8.8 Conclusion  216
Bibliography  218

9  Creative Industries and Commodity Exchange  221
   9.1 Introduction  221
   9.2 Immaterial Labour and the Creative Industries  223
   9.3 The Work of Combustion and the Form-Giving Fire  227