REWLEY HOUSE STUDIES IN THE HISTORIC ENVIRONMENT, 8

PLACES OF WORSHIP IN BRITAIN AND IRELAND 1350–1550

edited by
P. S. Barnwell

SHAUN TYAS
DONINGTON 2019
Contents

Foreword vi

   Nicola Coldstream (Independent Scholar) 1

2. Liturgy and Music, 1350–1550
   John Harper (Universities of Bangor and Birmingham) 11

3. Reading Coloured Light: Stained Glass in England and Wales, c. 1350–c. 1550
   Sarah Brown (University of York) 25

4. English Cathedrals, 1350–1550: Devotion and Commemoration
   Philippa Turner (The National Archives) 60

5. ‘Small is Beautiful’: Benedictine Devotional Spaces, c. 1350 to the Reformation
   Cathy Oakes (University of Oxford) 81

6. Carthusian Monasteries and Their Influence on Cistercian Planning after 1350
   Glyn Coppack (Independent Scholar) 107

7. Scottish Collegiate Churches, c. 1320–1546: Ancestry, Ambition and Social Arrival
   Richard Oram (University of Stirling) 126

8. ‘For the weal of my soul’: The Architecture and Fittings of the Scottish Collegiate Churches
   Richard Fawcett (University of St Andrews) and Lizzie Swarbrick (University of Edinburgh) 152

9. Parish Churches in Ireland, 1350–1550
   Rachel Moss (Trinity College Dublin) 174

10. The Parish Church in Later Medieval Wales
    Madeleine Gray (University of South Wales) 191

11. The Community and the Individual: Worship and the Late Medieval English Parochial Church
    P. S. Barnwell (University of Oxford) 207

12. Conclusion: The Flourishing of a Religious Culture
    P. S. Barnwell (University of Oxford) 242

Index 260