

Introduction

Policy and Strategy 1941-1943: From Continentalatlantic To Global War

The anti-Hitler coalition

The coalition of the Tripartite Pact states

The War In The Pacific

Potential sources of conflict

Japan's road to war

Pearl Harbor and the expansion of the Japanese sphere of control

The Pacific naval air battles in 1942 and their repercussions

Guadalcanal: The inception of the American counter-offensive in 1942

The War At Sea In The Atlantic And In The Arctic Ocean

The Atlantic in German and Allied strategy

Allied sea transport capacity as a strategic problem of the German war effort

The conduct of the war in the Atlantic and the coastal area

Operations on the northern flank of Europe

The Anglo-American Strategic Air War Over Europe, And German Air Defence

Doctrine and preparation of the strategic bombing war in Great Britain and the United States of America up to the beginning of the war

Air defence in the German air war doctrine and the build-up of the German air defences in peacetime

The beginnings of the strategic bombing war by the RAF, the German air defence, and American preparations for air war up to the end of 1941

Allied strategic bombing and German air defence in 1942

The situation of the Luftwaffe from 1942 to the beginning of 1943

The War In The Mediterranean Area 1942-1943: Operations In North Africa And The Central Mediterranean

The opening of the second German-Italian offensive in North Africa, and the Battle of Malta

The advance to El-Alamein (Operation Theseus)

El Alamein

The allied landing in North-West Africa and the German-Italian Panzer Armies' retreat to Tunisia

The German occupation of Vichy France and the seizure of Toulon (Operations Anton and Lila, 11-27 November 1942)

The war at sea and the supply situation, 1942-1943

The War Against The Soviet Union, 1942-1943

Hitler's 'Second Campaign': military concept and strategic foundations

The mobilization of Germany's allies

The Spring battles of 1942

The beginning of the summer offensive

The offensive into the Caucasus

Stalingrad

The annihilation of the Sixth Army

The winter battles of 1943

The historical topos of the second campaign against the Soviet Union

Conclusion

Bibliography

Index Of Persons

Table of Contents provided by Blackwell's Book Services and R.R. Bowker. Used with permission.