

Professional Knowledge and Reflection-in-Action: The crisis of confidence in professional knowledge

From technical rationality to reflection-in-action

Professional Contexts for Reflection-in-Action: Design as a reflective conversation with the situation

Psychotherapy: The patient as a universe of one

The structure of reflection-in-action

Reflective practice in the science-based professions

Town planning: Limits to reflection-in-action

The art of managing: Reflection-in-action within an organizational learning system

Patterns and limits of reflection-in-action across the professions

Conclusion: Implications for the professions and their place in society

Table of Contents provided by Blackwell's Book Services and R.R. Bowker. Used with permission.