Introduction
Causes and consequences of polarization
Confronting asymmetric polarization
Reforming the Electoral System
Polarization and democratization
Eroding the electoral foundations of partisan polarization
Solutions to polarization
Geography and gridlock in the United States
Strengthening Parties
Parties as the solution to polarization
Reducing polarization by making parties stronger
Focus on political fragmentation, not polarization: re-empower party leadership
Two approaches to lessening the effects of partisanship
Empowering and Informing Moderate Voters
Data science for the people
Using mobilization, media, and motivation to curb political polarization
Lowering Barriers to Policy Making
Beyond confrontation and gridlock: making democracy work for the American people
American political parties: exceptional no more
Partisan polarization and the Senate syndrome
Finding the center
Fostering Negotiation
Making deals in Congress
Helping Congress negotiate
Staying private

Table of Contents provided by Blackwell's Book Services and R.R. Bowker. Used with permission.