Introduction
Criminal law, regulatory frameworks and public health
Drugs, crime and public health: an insight from criminology
Criminal law, drugs and harm reduction
Morality and strategy in politicising tobacco use: criminal law, public health, and philosophy
Pursued by the 'fat' police? Prosecuting the parents of obese children
Disease transmission, liability and criminal law
Compulsion, surveillance, testing and treatment: a truly 'criminal' matter?
Epidemiological criminology and violence prevention: addressing the co-occurrence of criminal violence and poor health outcomes
Forensic epidemiology: strange bedfellows or the perfect match? Can public health and criminal law work together without losing their souls?
From the criminal to the consensual: the shifting mechanisms of environmental regulation
Criminal law and global health governance

Table of Contents provided by Blackwell's Book Services and R.R. Bowker. Used with permission.