List of Illustrations p. viii
Notes on Editors and Contributors p. ix
Preface p. xix
Introduction p. 1
The Mission and the Man
Root and Branch: The Place of the Portuguese Jesuits in the Early Modern China Mission p. 6
Tomás Pereira and the Jesuits of the Court of the Kangxi Emperor p. 38
Father Tomás Pereira, SJ, the Kangxi Emperor and the Court Westerners p. 64
The Image of Tomás Pereira in Qing Dynasty Documents p. 85
From the Earthly Court to the Heavenly Court: The Death and Funeral of Tomás Pereira p. 112
The Last Imperial Honours: From Tomás Pereira to the Eulogium Europeorum Doctorum 1711
The Court and Chinese Culture
‘Amicíssimos’, Tomás Pereira and Zhao Chang p. 228
The Fô and the Xekiâ: Tomás Pereira’s Critical Description of Chinese Buddhism p. 252
Ubi Dux, Ibi Curia: Kangxi’s Imperial Hunts and the Jesuits as Courtiers p. 275
‘Riding a Crane She Ascended to the Distant Realms’: The Last Memorial (27 January 1688) of Ferdinand Verbiest
The China Mission in the Time of the Kangxi Emperor
The ‘Edict of Tolerance’: A Textual History and Reading p. 308
Tomás Pereira’s Appeal to the Portuguese Jesuits and Missionary Recruitment to China p. 359
Ferdinand Verbiest’s Letter of 1678 to King Afonso VI of Portugal and the Possible Role of Tomás Pereira in its Conception p. 404
The Divulgation of European Science and Knowledge in China
Defending European Astronomy in China … Against Europe: Tomás Pereira and the Directorate of Astronomy in 1688 p. 424
Resolution of Some Questions about Tomás Pereira’s Arrival in Beijing and Service at the Directorate of Astronomy p. 454
Seventeenth-Century Jesuit Surveys for a Secure Overland Route from Europe to China p. 468
The Sino-Russian Negotiations at Nerchinsk
The Jesuits at Nerchinsk: Language, War, and Ethnicity p. 504
Tomás Pereira at the Nerchinsk Conference p. 512
Tomás Pereira, Jing Tian and Nerchinsk: Evolving World-View during the Kangxi Period p. 518
The Introduction of Western Music to China
Mission by Music: The Challenge of Translating European Music into Chinese in the Lülü Zuanyao p. 532
The Organist and Organ Builder Tomás Pereira: Some New Data on His Activity p. 546
The Macau Ricci Institute p. 568
Index p. 570