Setting the Scene

The Corleones at Home and Abroad  p. 3
Gender and Violence: Four Themes in the Everyday World of Mafia Wives  p. 26
American Mafia Movies and Television: The Corleones at Home and Abroad  p. 41
Wallace McCutcheon's The Black Hand: A Different Version of a Biograph Kidnapping  p. 46

'Most Thrilling Subjects': D.W. Griffith and the Biograph Revenge Films  p. 46
Ethnicity and the Classical Gangster Film: Mervyn LeRoy's Little Caesar and Howard Hawks's Scarface  p. 52
Playing Good Italian/Bad Italian on ABC's The Untouchables  p. 58
Prelude to The Godfather: Martin Ritt's The Brotherhood  p. 64
Michael Corleone's Tie: Francis Ford Coppola's The Godfather  p. 70
Nihilism and Mafiosità in Martin Scorsese's Mean Streets  p. 76
Thematic Patterns in Francis Ford Coppola's The Godfather: Part II  p. 82
The Sexual Politics of Loyalty in John Huston's Prizzi's Honor  p. 87
Between Postmodern Parody and Generic Hybridization: The Gangsters of Brian De Palma's The Untouchables  p. 93

The Bandit, the Gangster, and the American Army Shorts: Michael Cimino's The Sicilian  p. 98

Martin Scorsese's Goodfellas: Hybrid Storytelling between Realism and Formalism  p. 103
Narrating the Mafia, Las Vegas, and Ethnicity in Martin Scorsese's Casino  p. 114
'Nothing Romantic about It': Gender and the Legacy of Crime in Abel Ferrara's The Funeral  p. 120
Inside the Mafia; Mike Newell's Donnie Brasco  p. 126
Family Therapy: Harold Ramis's Analyze This and the Evolution of the Gangster Genre  p. 132

Martin Scorsese's The Departed, or the Quest for a Departed (Ethnic) Identity  p. 138
When Words Can Kill: David Chase's The Sopranos  p. 145
'Don't Stop Believin', Don't Stop …': (De)Structuring Expectations in the Final Season of The Sopranos  p. 151
'History Doesn't Repeat Itself, but It Does Rhyme': Fictionalizing History in Boardwalk Empire  p. 157
Mob Wives: Exploitation or Empowerment?  p. 163
Italian Mafia Movies and Television: Resistance and Myth  p. 172

Which Law Is the Father's? Gender and Generic Oscillation in Pietro Germi's In the Name of the Law  p. 177
Of the Law

The Visible, Unexposed: Francesco Rosi's Salvatore Giuliano  p. 183
Modernity, Mafia Style: Alberto Lattuada's Mafioso  p. 188
Francesco Rosi's Hands over the City: A Contemporary Perspective on the Camorra  p. 194
Prototypes of the Mafia: Luchino Visconti's The Leopard  p. 200
The Failure of the Intellectual: Elio Petri's Filming of Leonardo Sciascia's To Each His Own  p. 206
Damiano Damiani's The Day of the Owl: A Western Flirtation  p. 212
Smaller and Larger Families: Lina Wertmüller's The Seduction of Mimi  p. 217
Deconstructing the Enigma: Logical Investigations in Francesco Rosi's Lucky Luciano  p. 218

Power as Such: The Idea of the Mafia in Francesco Rosi's Illustrious Corpses  p. 224
Marco Risi's Forever Mary: Desperate Lives Converge in Sicilia 'Non Bedda'  p. 230
Threads of Political Violence in Italy's Spiderweb: Giorgio Ambrosoli's Murder in Michele Placido's A Bourgeois Hero  p. 236
Sacrifice, Sacrament, and the Body in Ricky Tognazzi's La scrota  p. 242
Pasquale Scimeca's Placido Rizzotto: A Different View of Corleone  p. 247
Marco Tullio Giordana's The Hundred Steps: The Biopic as Political Cinema  p. 253
Roberta Torre's Angela: The Mafia and the 'Woman's Film'  p. 259
Organized Crime and Unfulfilled Promises in Gabriele Salvatores' I'm Not Scared  p. 265
Growing Up Camorrista: Antonio and Andrea Frazzi's Certi bambini  p. 271
Lipstick and Chocolate: Paolo Sorrentino's The Consequences of Love  p. 277
The In(di)visibility of the Mafia, Politics, and Ethics in Bianchi and Nerazzini's The Mafia Is White  p. 283
Marco Turco's Excellent Cadavers: An Italian Tragedy  p. 289
Dispatches from Hell: Matteo Garrone's Gomorrah  p. 294
From Comedy to Commemoration: Pierfrancesco Diliberto's La mafia uccide solo d'estate  p. 300
Fabio Grassadonia and Antonio Piazza's Salvo: The Sound of Redemption in an Infernal Landscape  p. 306
Of Renegades and Game Players: Shifting Sympathies in Gomorra: la serie  p. 312
Italy's Other Mafias in Film and on Television: A Roundtable
Introduction - The Banda della Magliana, the Camorra, the 'Ndrangheta, and the Sacra Corona Unita: The Mafia On Screen beyond the Cosa Nostra  p. 321
Historicizing Italy's Other Mafias: Some Considerations  p. 329
Romanzo criminale: Roma Caput Violandi  p. 334
Romanzo criminale: la serie  p. 338
Toxic Tables: The Representation of Food in Camorra Films  p. 342
The New Mafia in Una vita tranquilla  p. 346
Soap Operas  p. 349
Response #1  p. 353
Response #2  p. 355
Response #3  p. 357
Conclusion  p. 359
Double Takes
The Godfather
The Godfather: Performance and Stardom  p. 363
The Godfather: Adaptation  p. 365
The Godfather: Gender  p. 367
The Godfather: Scene Analysis - Don Vito's Office  p. 369
The Godfather: Scene Analysis - The Baptism/Murder  p. 371
The Godfather: Scene Analysis - The Finale  p. 373