

TABLE OF CONTENTS

PREFAZIONE	Pag. 11
PREFACE	» 13
INTRODUCTION: CRETULAE : THE OBJECT, ITS USE AND FUNCTIONS (E. Fiandra, M. Frangipane)	» 15
CHAPTER I: THOUSANDS OF CRETULAE IN THE FOURTH MILLENNIUM 'PALATIAL' COMPLEX AT ARSLANTEPE (PERIOD VI A, LC5): THE ARCHAEO- LOGICAL CONTEXTS (M. Frangipane)	» 25
1. Cretulae in use and temporarily collected	» 31
1.1. The storeroom A340	» 31
1.2. Cretulae in the Temples	» 38
2. Discarded cretulae	» 47
2.1. The main dumping place A206	» 47
2.2. A77: the discarded cretulae in Temple A	» 53
2.3. A430 and the minor dumping area A434	» 55
CHAPTER II: THE ARSLANTEPE PERIOD VI A CRETULAE AND OTHER ADMINIS- TRATIVE DEVICES: MATERIAL AND FUNCTIONAL CHARACTERISTICS (P. Ferioli, E. Fiandra, M. Frangipane, R. Laurito, M.B. D'Anna, C. Simonetti)	» 61
1. Analytical methods (P. Ferioli, E. Fiandra, M. Frangipane)	» 61
2. General features of the Arslantepe cretulae (P. Ferioli, E. Fiandra, M. Frangi- pane)	» 66
3. Sealed objects, closing and sealing practices reconstructed from the cretulae . The two main corpora of administrative materials: an initial and final step in the procedures	» 68
3.1. The sealed objects recognised in the main stratified dump A206 and the sealing procedures at Arslantepe (P. Ferioli, E. Fiandra)	» 68
3.2. Cretulae from the store-room A340 and adjacent areas. Use, characteristics and peculiarities (P. Ferioli, E. Fiandra, M. Frangipane)	» 111
4. Cretulae and sealed objects from minor dumping areas in the 4 th millenium palace at Arslantepe (R. Laurito)	» 126
4.1. Dump A77 in Temple A	» 126
4.2. The small assemblage of cretulae found in A39	» 136
4.3. Room A430 in the eastern sector of the building complex	» 138
4.4. The small dump A434	» 145
5. Special kinds of 'tablets' found with the cretulae	» 148
5.1. The discovery of a few 'tablets' (Z) in the palace area: accounting and annota- tion devices (M. Frangipane)	» 148
5.2. Small clay tablets, one with an incised sign (C. Simonetti)	» 153

6. Comparing vessels against vessel imprints on the cretulae in room A340 (M.B. D'Anna, R. Laurito).....	Pag. 157
6.1. Introduction.....	» 157
6.2. The pottery in A340.....	» 160
6.3. Matching between vessels and cretulae	» 163
6.4. Conclusions.....	» 170
CHAPTER III: THE FOURTH MILLENNIUM GLYPTICS AT ARSLANTEPE (M. Frangipane, H. Pittman).....	» 175
1. The main assemblages of cretulae and the methodology for the reconstruction of seal designs (M. Frangipane).....	» 175
2. The corpus of seal designs. Descriptive catalog of glyptic imagery (H. Pittman) ...	» 182
2.1. The A206 seals.....	» 182
2.2. The A340 seals.....	» 222
2.3. The A77 and A39 seals (Temple A).....	» 230
2.4. The A430 seals.....	» 238
2.5. The A434 seals.....	» 242
3. The seals reconstructed from their impressions: Iconographic and stylistic features of the 'Arslantepe glyptics' (M. Frangipane).....	» 243
3.1. Characteristics and local specific traits of the period VIA glyptics: general preliminary remarks.....	» 243
3.2. The A206 glyptics.....	» 243
3.3. Seal designs in storeroom A340.....	» 270
3.4. The seals from Temple A: A77 and A39.....	» 273
3.5. The seals from the minor dumping areas A430 and A434.....	» 279
3.6. A few concluding remarks.....	» 283
4. The glyptic art from Arslantepe period VI A: A consideration of intraregional relations as seen through style and iconography (H. Pittman).....	» 284
4.1. Introduction.....	» 284
4.2. Description of corpus.....	» 286
4.3. Conclusion: The administrative function of seal imagery.....	» 334
CHAPTER IV: METHODS OF MANUFACTURE AND MATERIALS USED IN SEAL PRODUCTION AT ARSLANTEPE (E. Cristiani, R. Laurito, C. Lemorini).....	» 355
1. Reconstruction of raw materials and techniques of carving: Reading the traces left on the clay surfaces.....	» 355
2. Technological analysis.....	» 366
3. Conclusions.....	» 376
4. Catalogue of seals impressed on the Arslantepe cretulae , analysed by material and tool marks.....	» 377

CHAPTER V: ROPES AND TEXTILES (R. Laurito)	Pag. 381
1. Cordage	» 381
2. Materials used to cover vessels and for making sacks	» 390
CHAPTER VI: CLAY USED FOR SEALING OPERATIONS IN THE ARSLANTEPE PALACE (J. Blackman, P. Ferioli, M. Frangipane, P. Morbidelli, A.M. Palmieri)	» 395
1. Macro-distinctions of clay-types in A206 (P. Ferioli, M. Frangipane)	» 395
2. A study of Arslantepe cretulae by chemical characterization (M.J. Blackman)....	» 396
3. XRD and ICP analyses of some Arslantepe cretulae fragments and clay samples from the region: Characterization and archaeological implications (A.M. Palmieri, P. Morbidelli)	» 406
CHAPTER VII: ARSLANTEPE: A COMPLEX ADMINISTRATIVE SYSTEM BEFORE WRITING (E. Fiandra, M. Frangipane)	» 415
1. The reconstruction of the administrative operations in the distribution storeroom A340	» 415
2. The discarded cretulae : An early archive system in the 4 th millennium BC	» 425
2.1. The main dump A206	» 425
2.2. The minor dumps in the Palace	» 459
3. Some concluding remarks	» 464
CHAPTER VIII: THE DEVELOPMENT OF AN EARLY STATE SYSTEM WITHOUT URBANISATION (M. Frangipane)	» 469
1. Hierarchies of officials and the “public” administration at Arslantepe.....	» 469
2. A village-based centralised power structure	» 475
Appendix 1: List of the cretulae from A206	» 479
Appendix 2a: List of the cretulae from A77, Temple A	» 509
Appendix 2b: List of the cretulae from A39, Temple A	» 512

Appendix 3a: List of the cretulae from storeoom A340.....	Pag. 513
Appendix 3b: List of the cretulae from the storeoom area.....	» 517
Appendix 4: List of the cretulae from A430.....	» 518
Appendix 5: List of the cretulae from A434.....	» 520
BIBLIOGRAPHY	» 521