New Labour

The Progressive Future?

Edited by

Stuart White
Jesus College
Oxford

palgrave

Contents

Notes on the Contributors vii

Acknowledgements ix

Introduction: New Labour and Future of Progressive Politics x

Part I: The Ideology of New Labour 1

1 The Ambiguities of the Third Way 3
Stuart White

2 New Labour: Old Liberalism 18
Samuel H. Beer

3 New Labour and Public Opinion: the Third Way as Centrism? 32
Pippa Norris

Part II: New Labour in Government 45

4 Education and Training: Tensions at the Heart of the British Third Way 47
Stewart Wood

5 New Labour: a Distinctive Vision of Welfare Policy? 63
Paul Johnson

6 Enabling Participation? New Labour's Welfare-to-Work Policies 77
Carey Oppenheim

7 A Third Way in Industrial Relations? 93
Colin Crouch

8 Decentralization under New Labour: a Civic Liberal Perspective 110
Steven M. Teles and Marc Landy

9 Feminism and the Third Way: a Call for Dialogue 126
Anna Coote

Part III: Comparative Perspectives 135

10 The Collapse of Bill Clinton's Third Way 137
Margaret Weir

11 Prolegomena to the Third Way Debate 149
Michele Salvati

12 European Social Democracy and the Third Way: Convergence, Divisions, and Shared Questions 161
Frank Vandenbroucke

13 The SPD and the Neue Mitte in Germany 175
Andreas Busch and Philip Manow

14 Dutch Lessons in Social Pragmatism 190
Anton Hemerijck and Jelle Visser

15 Pluralism and the Future of the French Left 204
Laurent Bouvet and Frédéric Michel

16 Conclusion: New Labour and the Uncertain Future of Progressive Politics 213
Stuart White and Susan Giaimo

Index 223