

ASPECTS OF
AMERICAN HISTORY

Simon Henderson

CONTENTS

Acknowledgements	ix
Introduction	1
1 Nation in embryo: the development of colonial America	6
2 Reasons for revolt: the birth of the United States	16
3 The Constitution: makings and meanings	25
4 Flawed heroes: Washington, Jefferson and slavery	35
5 Ignoring Washington's warning: antebellum party systems	44
6 Slavery and the causes of the American Civil War	54
7 Southern and Confederate nationalism	63
8 Lincoln and liberty	73
9 Reconstruction: the unfulfilled promise	83
10 Civil War memory and American national identity	93
11 Introducing Jim Crow: the codification of segregation in the South	103
12 Prejudice and paternalism: assimilation and Native American identity	112

CONTENTS

13 American identity and the American West	122
14 Immigration and assimilation: melting pot or salad bowl?	132
15 Gender, race and the vote, 1865–1920	142
16 Origins of the civil rights movement: southern black protest, 1900–1945	151
17 Kennedy, Johnson and civil rights	160
18 Martin, Malcolm and black America	170
19 American national mission and global conflict in the twentieth century	180
20 American identity and the ‘war on terror’	190
Notes	200
Select bibliography	233
Index	241