WRITING THE MODERN CITY
Literature, architecture, modernity

Edited by Sarah Edwards and Jonathan Charley
CONTENTS

List of figures ix
Notes on contributors xi
Preface xiii
Acknowledgements xvi

1 Time, space and narrative: reflections on architecture, literature and modernity 1
   Jonathan Charley

PART I
Memory, nation, identity 19

2 Remembering and forgetting: private and public lives in the imagined nation 21
   Sarah Edwards

3 Poets, tramps and a town planner: a survey of Raymond Unwin’s on-site persona 32
   Brian Ward

4 Unhomely desire: dismantling the walls of difference in Gora’s Kolkata 56
   Mark Mukherjee Campbell

5 ‘The past forsworn’: colonialism and counterhistory in the work of Doris Lessing 78
   Victoria Rosner
PART II
Movement, culture, genre

6 Drugs, crime and other worlds
   Jonathan Charley

7 Architectural crimes and architectural solutions
   Peter Clandfield

8 Philip K. Dick's disturbanism: towards psychospatial readings of science fiction
   David T. Fortín

9 Alexander Trocchi: Glasgow through the eye of a needle
   Gary A. Boyd

PART III
Narrative, form, space

10 Anonymous encounters: the structuring of space in postmodern narratives of the city
   Sarah Edwards

11 The novel architecture of Georges Perec
   Stefanie Elisabeth Sobelle

12 Sex happens: a phenomenological reading of the casual encounter
   Renée Tohe

13 'There are different ways of making the streets tell': narrative, urban space and orientation
   Inga Bryden

Index