Contents

Introduction: Inventing the “Modern American Family”: Family Values and Social Change in 20th Century United States
Isabel Heinemann ................................................................. 7

Section I: Building the Nation: The American Family

Nationalist Middle-Class Women, Memory, and Conservative Family Values, 1890–1945
Simon Wendt ........................................................................... 31

“Americanization through Homemaking”: Mexican American Mothers as a Major Factor in Americanization Programs
Claudia Roesch ................................................................. 59

Mothering the Nation, Unmothering the Self: New Women and Maternal Narratives in the Progressive Era
Barbara Antoniazzi ............................................................... 82

Section II: Social Experts and the American Family

“Healthy” Men make Good Fathers: Masculine Health and the Family in 20th Century America
Tracy Penny Light .............................................................. 105

Isabel Heinemann ............................................................... 124
Section III: Failing Parents and Problematic Youth

"The Enemy Within": African American Motherhood and the "Crack Baby Crisis"
Anne Overbeck ......................................................... 155

Looking for Fathers in the Postwar U.S. Foster Care System
Catherine B. Rymph .................................................... 177

"But recall the kind of parents we have to deal with": Juvenile Delinquency, Interdependent Masculinity and the Government of Families in the Postwar U.S.
Nina Mackert ............................................................. 196

Section IV: Fatherhood / Motherhood and the Media

"You be a man if you can, Stan": Family Life and Fatherhood in Charles Burnett’s Killer of Sheep (1977)
Jürgen Martschukat .................................................... 223

Is Mom to Blame? Anti-Communist Law Enforcement and the Representation of Motherhood in Early Cold War U.S. Film
Olaf Stieglitz ............................................................. 244

Andre Dechert .......................................................... 265

Bibliography ............................................................. 289

Contributors ............................................................ 326

Index ................................................................. 330