Must Read: Rediscovering American Bestsellers

From Charlotte Temple to The Da Vinci Code

Edited by

Sarah Churchwell and Thomas Ruys Smith

continuum

CONTENTS

1 Introduction 1
Sarah Churchwell and Thomas Ruys Smith

2 Missing numbers: The partial history of the bestseller 37
Sarah Garland

3 The history of Charlotte Temple as an American bestseller 59
Gideon Mailer

4 "Like beads strung together": E. D. E. N. Southworth and the aesthetics of popular serial fiction 79
Rachel Ihara

5 Ten Nights in a Bar-Room and the visual culture of temperance 101
William Gleason

6 "The Man Without a Country": Treason, expansionism, and the history of a "bestselling" short story 131
Hsuan L. Hsu

7 Exhilaration and enlightenment in the biblical bestseller: Lew Wallace's Ben-Hur, A Tale of the Christ 153
James Russell

8 "Absolutely punk": Queer economies of desire in Tarzan of the Apes 175
J. Michelle Coghlan

9 Ornamentalism: Desire, disavowal, and displacement in E. M. Hull's The Sheik 197
Sarah Garland

10 Small change? Emily Post's Etiquette (1922–2012) 217
Grace Lees-Maffei

11 Blockbuster feminism: Peyton Place and the uses of scandal 249
Ardis Cameron

12 Crimes and bestsellers: Mario Puzo's path to The Godfather 277
Evan Brier

13 Master of sentiment: The romances of Nicholas Sparks 297
Sarah Churchwell

14 The Kite Runner's transnational allegory: Anatomy of an Afghan-American bestseller 319
Georgiana Banita

15 The fiction of history: The Da Vinci Code and the virtual public sphere 341
Stephen J. Mexal

16 Contributor biographies 359

Index 365