

Contents

1. Introduction 1
 - 1.1 Why Study Swedish Investment in the U.S? 1
 - 1.2 Describing Swedish Investment in the U.S. 4
 - 1.3 The Market Structure Facing Swedish Investors in the U.S. 5
 - 1.4 Strategies Followed by Swedish Firms Investing in the U.S. 7
 - 1.5 Managing Swedish FDI in the U.S. 10
 - 1.6 Brief History of a Research Project 12
 - 1.7 The Structure of the Book 13Notes to Chapter One 15

2. Research Method 17
 - 2.1 The Chosen Research Design and its Relation to the Four Purposes of the Thesis 17
 - 2.2 The Survey Study 19
 - 2.2.1 Constructing the Questionnaire 19
 - 2.2.2 Defining the Population 21
 - 2.2.3 Collecting the Survey Data 23
 - 2.3 The Case Studies 28
 - 2.3.1 Considering the Case Method 29
 - 2.3.2 Selecting the Cases 30
 - 2.3.3 Collecting the Case Study Data 31

3. The Magnitude and Type of Swedish Investment in the U.S. 33
 - 3.1 Putting Swedish FDI in the U.S. into Perspective 33
 - 3.2 Providing a Historical Perspective 39
 - 3.3 Some Characteristics of Swedish FDI in the U.S. 41
 - 3.4 The Results Achieved by Foreign Investors in the U.S. 49
 - 3.5 Summarizing The Findings 56

4. The Role of Industry Structure and Firm Strategy 59
 - 4.1 Introduction 59
 - 4.2 Explaining the Existence of FDI and the MNE 60
 - 4.3 Motives for FDI 66
 - 4.3.1 Motives for FDI in the U.S. 69
 - 4.3.2 Motives for Swedish FDI in the U.S. 73
 - 4.4 The Internationalization Process 75
 - 4.5 The Choice of Entry Mode; Greenfield versus Acquisition 78
 - 4.5.1 Generating Hypotheses 82
 - 4.5.2 The Evidence 84
 - 4.6 Industrial Organization 92
 - 4.6.1 Defining the Dimensions of Industry Structure 93
 - 4.6.2 The Industry Structure Facing Swedish Investors 94
 - 4.6.3 The Influence of Industry Structure 98
 - 4.7 From International to Global Competition 104
 - 4.7.1 Investigating the Role of Market Share 105
 - 4.7.2 Considering the Swedish Firms in the U.S. 106
 - 4.7.3 Strategies for the MNE 112
 - Notes to Chapter Four 117

5. The Role of Management and Culture 123
 - 5.1 Managing the Multinational Enterprise 123
 - 5.1.1 Managing Swedish MNEs 125
 - 5.2 Some Recent Developments 128
 - 5.3 Managing Cultural Differences 130
 - 5.4 Summarizing the Arguments; A point of Departure 135
 - 5.5 The Findings 136
 - Notes to Chapter Five 146

6. The Cases 149
 - 6.1 The Case of Volvo Truck Corporation 149
 - 6.1.1 Introduction 149
 - 6.1.2 AB Volvo and Volvo Truck Corporation 149
 - 6.1.3 The Heavy Truck Industry 152
 - 6.1.4 The North American Truck Market 153
 - 6.1.5 Volvo Trucks in the U.S.

- 6.1.6 White Motor Corporation 158
- 6.1.7 The Acquisition 160
- 6.1.8 The Assets of White Motor Corporation 161
- 6.1.9 The Reconstruction 161
 - 6.1.9.1 Improving Dealer Relations 161
 - 6.1.9.2 Rationalizations and Improved Systems 162
 - 6.1.9.3 Improving Product Quality 163
 - 6.1.9.4 Marketing 163
 - 6.1.9.5 Product Acceptance 164
 - 6.1.9.6 Creating a New Corporate Head Quarters 165
- 6.1.10 Intercultural Relations 166
- 6.1.11 Management by Consensus 167
- 6.1.12 Personnel Policy 169
- 6.1.13 Summary and Concluding Remarks 169
- 6.1.14 Forming a New Venture: Volvo GM Heavy Truck Corp 172

- 6.2 The Case of Ericsson Telecom 174
 - 6.2.1 The Ericsson Group and Ericsson Telecom 174
 - 6.2.2 The Telecommunications Industry 176
 - 6.2.3 Three Attempts to Enter the U.S. Market 178
 - 6.2.4 Product Adaptation 180
 - 6.2.5 Creating a Marketing Organization 181
 - 6.2.6 A Mounting Crisis 182
 - 6.2.7 Reappraisal and a New Start 183
 - 6.2.8 Results Achieved and Lessons Learnt 184

- 6.3 Comparing the Cases 186
 - 6.3.1 The Motives 186
 - 6.3.2 The Role of Industry Structure 187
 - 6.3.3 The Choice of Strategy 190
 - 6.3.4 Managing Swedish Investment in the U.S. 193

- 7. Summary and Conclusions 197
 - 7.1 Introduction 197
 - 7.2 Summarizing the Findings 198

7.2.1	Describing Swedish Direct Investment in the U.S.	198
7.2.2	The Industry Structure Facing Swedish Investors	199
7.2.3	The Strategies Employed by The Swedish Investors	200
7.2.4	Managing Swedish Investment in the U.S.	201
7.3	Theoretical Implications	203
7.4	The Lessons Learnt - Implications for Managers	211
7.5	Suggestions for Future Research	216
	Notes to Chapter Seven	218

References 219

Appendices 229