

Contents

List of Tables and Figures	x
Abbreviations	xi
Preface	xiii
Introduction Labour Movement and Workers' Culture	1
1. The German Proletariat and the Cultural Heritage	20
The Foundations	20
The Labour Movement and Cultural Practice:
The Education Guidelines of 1906	28
The Impact of the November Revolution	36
Bourgeois Heritage and Committed Art	44
2. Emancipation Through Culture: Social-Democratic Theory and Practice	54
The Social-Democratic Discussion in the Weimar Years	54
The Structure of the 'Third Pillar of the Movement'	64
3. Towards a Fighting Culture: The Case of the German Communist Party	74
Culture as a Weapon	74
Literature and Ideology	82
The Cultural System of Democratic Centralism	94
4. Working-Class Milieu and Workers' Leisure: The Culture of Everyday Life	107
Labour, Living Standards and Leisure Time	107
The Working-Class Milieu and Workers' Leisure	120

Contents

5. Workers' Sport: A Million-Member Movement	134
Origin and Growth of the Workers' Sports Movement	134
The Ideals and Practices of Arbeitersport	139
Workers' Sport and the Proletarian Community	143
Workers' Sport and Working-Class Politics	146
6. Workers' Music: Professionalism v. Partisanship	154
A Column in the Army of the Great Workers' Movement	154
Between 'Music for Music's Sake' and Kampfmusik	159
The Music of Political Dissonance	168
7. The Visual Arts in Weimar Workers' Culture	177
A Red Cinderella	177
Workers' Education and the Visual Arts	179
The Private Art of the Working Class and the Public Art of the Labour Movement	182
Committed Exhibitions	187
The Iconography of the Political Media of the Left	194
Visual Art and Political Agitation	197
8. The People's Stage and Agitprop: Two Aspects of Workers' Theatre	207
The People's Theatre Movement and the Working Class	207
Politics and Artistic Direction	213
A Megaphone for the Masses	221
9. Festkultur: Mobilising the Emotions	233
Between Tradition and Innovation	233
Popular Entertainment and Political Commitment	238
Acts of Commitment and Dedication	246
10. The New Media and the Parties of the Left	254
Rise and Scope of the New Media	254
A Neutral or a Committed Ether?	256
The Cinema – Creator of Illusion or Weapon for the Revolution?	263
Old Media in a New Garb	274

Contents

11. New Lifestyles and the Labour Movement	287
Towards a Socialist Culture of Everyday Life	287
New Rituals for Old	290
Youth Movement and 'Youth Culture'	297
The Limits to Reform – Sex and Family Life	305
Conclusions	314
Select Bibliography	318
Index	328

List of Tables and Figures

Tables

1. Total membership of workers' cultural organisations in 1928	7
2. Cultural events promoted by local associations of the SPD, 1911/12	32
3. SPD Hamburg cultural activities, 1927/8	72
4. The membership of communist mass organisations during the Weimar period	100
5. Membership of workers' sport organisations	135
6. Chronicle of exhibitions	189
7. Festival calendar of the German labour movement 1918-33	239

Figures

1. Cultural organisations within the social democratic orbit	70
2. Leisure-time usage by the working class	133