

CONTENTS

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS	8
INTRODUCTION	10

Chapter one

MUSLIM IMMIGRATION AND THE IMPORTANCE OF THE RELIGIOUS FACTOR	13
The larger migrational setting	14
The Norwegian scenario of foreign nationals	15
The Pakistani background and incentive	18
The need to acknowledge religious factors in immigration	22
Muslim immigrants in a secular society	25

Chapter two

THE SCOPE OF RELIGION: SECULARIZATION VS. ISLAMIZATION IN THE MUSLIM EXPERIENCE	29
Religion by extension	30
Religious liberty and Islam as a controversial way of life	34
The cognitive dimension	34
The emotional dimension	39
The social dimension	40
The behavioural dimension	43

Chapter three

THE VARIETY OF SOUTH ASIAN ISLAM AND ITS LINKS WITH NORWAY	47
Combatting declining Muslim identity	48
Modernism and the western influence	49
Fundamentalist revolutionary nativism	56
Fundamentalism abroad	59
An ideology of the few elect	64
Traditionalist reform uncovering innovation	69
The tradition of Deoband	72

Reformist traditionalism in Norway	75
Popular religious stagnation and escapism	78
From Golra Sharif with love	84
Sectarian strife and the question of religious minorities	90
The Ahmadiyya controversy	91
Shi'a Muslims as controversial partners	96

Chapter four

EXIT, VOICE OR LOYALTY IN THE MINORITY SITUATION . . .	101
Palidistan Norway return?	102
Religious identity and national affiliation	103
The Pakistani political scenario	109
Summing up	114
Coexistence and confrontation or separatism and ghéttoization . .	115

Chapter five

TWO STYLES OF RELIGIOSITY: A DIFFERENTIAL ANALYSIS . . .	121
Islam in international and local context	122
Social differentiation among Pakistani Muslims	125
Further differentiations	128
The concept of communitas: can one find a dividing line?	131
Pir, shrine and magical practice as an extension in sacred geography	134
Custom unveiled: a way of telling the difference	140

Chapter six

TWO STYLES OF RELIGIOSITY: MOSQUE, MISSION AND LAW ENFORCEMENT	155
Normative offensive on a collision course?	156
Privatization vs. officialization	161
The mosque as centre of religious obligations and public influence 161
The normative religious obligations	171
Religious instruction	180
Muslim law in the western context	186
The case against the chairman of The Organization Against Harmful Immigration	192
The practice of ritual slaughter	196

Chapter seven

TWO STYLES OF RELIGIOSITY: SHRINE, MAGIC AND CELEBRATION	203
Popular religion in retreat?
Lost opportunities within the female world	204
Saint and healer in the tradition of 'amaliyat	211
Muslim medical alternatives	219
Public festivals contra household rites	223
The issues of birth and death as Muslim transitions	229
Burial customs and Norwegian bureaucracy	233
Religious liberty at the cost of increased state surveillance: a paradox of Muslim immigrant life?	238

Conclusion

PAKISTANI MUSLIMS IN NORWAY: WHAT CAN THEY BRING ALONG?	241
The internal variation	242
The external relation	243

APPENDIX

1. NOTES ON THE QUALITATIVE APPROACH AND FIELDWORK	250
2. LIST OF MUSLIM ORGANIZATIONS	258
3. CONSTITUTION OF JAMIA ISLAMIA, OSLO	262

NOTES	268
BIBLIOGRAPHY	286