Contents

1. Organizational Processes And Their Outcomes 1

A process view of organizations 2
A cultural rendez-vous 2
The received view 4
Small scale complexity 6
The structural versus process view of organizations 7
To describe organizational processes - the principal research objective 8
The importance of small firms 9
Are small firms efficient? 11
Operational performance 14
Organizational potentiality 17
Individual satisfaction 20
Small firms don't grow 26
A public interest in smallness 28
Smallness, independence and small firms - a definition proposal 30
Small firms - a definition proposal 31
Outline of the book 35

2. Theories About Organizations 39

The received view 41
Division-of-labor 42
Coordination 46
Motivation 51
Institutionalization 57
Some weaknesses with the received view 61
The rationalistic fallacy 61
The objectivistic fallacy 65
The structuralistic fallacy 67
The alternative view 69
Karl Weick on organizing 69
Enacted environments 70
Some studies on organizing as sensemaking 71
The process character of interpretive schemata 75
The relation between the received and the alternative view of organization 79

3. Methodology 81

The need for a grounded theory approach 82
Ontological and epistemological assumptions 84
Realism 85
Constructivism 86
Moderate realism 87
The Grounded Theory Approach 90
Small growing firms as a field of study 92
How data were collected 94
How data were coded 96
How data were analyzed 98
Moving from A-level to B-level categories 101
Moving from B-level to C-level categories 105
Some epistemological comments on the method 106
Criteria for evaluating explorative research 112
Accuracy 112
Reliability 113
Generative capacity 113
Theoretical linkage 113

4. Result; Categories And Their Properties 115

Case One 116
A-categories from Case One 118
Unrestricted search - Case One 122
Spontaneity (C1) and Systematic Planning (C2) 132
Division-of-labor 133
Coordination 133
Motivation 134
Institutionalization 134
A basic dualism 135
Framework guided search - Case One 136
Division-of-labor 137
Coordination 141
Motivation 142
Institutionalization 144
Sensemaking (C3) 146
Cause-map sub-cluster identification - Case One 148
Adaptation (C4) 151

Centrality based search - Case One 152
Goals 152
Causes 153
Confusion (C5) 153
Summary of the analysis of Case One 154
Case Two 156
Introduction to the analysis of Case Two 158
Generation of more A-categories 159
Adding properties to the B-categories from Case One 163
Unrestricted search - Case Two 165
Revised framework guided search - Case Two 168
Spontaneity (C1) 168
Systematic Planning (C2) 169
Sensemaking (C3) 172
Adaptation (C4) 172
Confusion (C5) 173
Centrality based search - Case Two 173
Goals 174
Causes 174
Summary of the analysis of Case Two 175

5. Organizing Processes In The Small Growing Firm - Conclusions 177

Organizing Processes in small growing firms 178
Intentional organizing 179
Spontaneous organizing processes 180
The eficiency of small firms 183
Operational performance 183
Organizational potentiality 185
Individual satisfaction 187
The raison d'être of small firms 191
Does increased firm size pose a threat for small firms? 192
Restraining factors 192
Driving factors 193
Growth dilemmas 194
Genuine and calculative relations 197
Business concepts in large and small firms 198
The complementarity of large and small firms 200

6. Methodological Reflections 205

The grounded theory approach 206
The problem of reification 207
The problem with empiricism 210
Retrospective case-studies versus direct observation 213
Growth processes as critical tests 214
Generalization - future research 214

Acknowledgements 217

Appendixes 221

References 227