

Notes on the Contributors	vii
Acknowledgements	x
Introduction: Commitment and the Illusion of Power Richard Dove and Stephen Lamb	1
1 Artists, Intellectuals and the German Independent Socialist Party: some Preliminary Reflections Richard Sheppard	13
2 René Schickele and the 1918 Revolution Margaret Rogister	30
3 Kurt Tucholsky's Analysis of the 1918–19 Revolution Ian King	44
4 Ernst Toller: the Redemptive Power of the Failed Revolutionary Frank Trommler	60
5 Weimar and the Political Film: from Die Weber to Kuhle Wampe John Warren	76
6 From Social Fascism to Popular Front: Communist Party Policy as Reflected in the Works of Friedrich Wolf, Anna Seghers and Willi Bredel 1928–38 Anthony Grenville	89
7 Politics and the War Novel: the Political Conception and Reception of Novels about the First World War Hans-Harald Müller	103

8	'Militant Humanism': a Concept of the Third Way in Exile 1933–45 Thomas Koebner	121
9	Literary Exile in Great Britain J. M. Ritchie	149
10	Forms of Conviction: the Problem of Belief in Anti-Fascist Plays by Bruckner, Toller and Wolf Tom Kuhn	163
11	Ernst Toller and the Exigencies of Exile N. A. Furness	178
12	Ernst Toller and Ireland Joachim Fischer	192
13	Adventurism, Propaganda or Commitment? German Writers in the Spanish Civil War Alexander Ostmann	207
	Index of Names	220