

---

Contents

---

Acknowledgements	viii
Introduction	1
Part I The concept of racism
1 Apropos the idea of 'race' . . . again	27
2 Nationalism and racism: antithesis and articulation	53
3 The civilisation and racialisation of the interior	80
Part II Migration theory and history
4 Theorising migration: possibilities and problems	107
5 Migration history and British racisms	128
6 Racialising subjects and aliens	150
Part III European perspectives
7 Integrating immigrants in Europe?	173
8 Migration and the nation state in Europe: contradictions and transformations	194
Bibliography	217
Name index	236
Subject index	238