

Contents

Series Foreword	ix
Preface	xi
Acknowledgments	xvii
Part I: Introduction
Chapter 1: Media, Society, and Criminology Gregg Barak	3
Part II: Constructing Crime News
Chapter 2. Crime News in the Old West Werner J. Einstadter	49
Chapter 3. Communal Violence and the Media: Lynchings and Their News Coverage by The New York Times between 1882 and 1930 Ira M. Wasserman and Steven Stack	69
Chapter 4. Crime in the News Media: A Refined Understanding of How Crimes Become News Steven Chermak	95
Chapter 5. Predator Criminals as Media Icons Ray Surette	131
Chapter 6. University Professor or Sadistic Killer? A Content Analysis of the Newspaper Coverage of a Murder Case Harry L. Marsh	159
Chapter 7. Murder and Mayhem in USA Today : A Quantitative Analysis of the National Reporting of States' News Robert A. Jerin and Charles B. Fields	187
Chapter 8. Patrolling the Facts: Media, Cops, and Crime Renée Goldsmith Kasinsky	203

Part III. Reconstructing Crime News

Chapter 9. Newsmaking Criminology: Reflections on the Media, Intellectuals, and Crime
Gregg Barak	237
Chapter 10. Becoming a Media Criminologist: Is “Newsmaking Criminology” Possible?
Cecil E. Greek	265
Chapter 11. Newsmaking Criminology as Replacement Discourse
Stuart Henry	287
Contributors	319