

Contents

Preface	ix
Introduction	xxiii
A Note about Language, Translation, and Truth	xxxvii
Frau Margarete (Margrit) Fischer	1	Idealism and Chasm
Frau Wilhelmine Haferkamp	17	Motherhood Times Ten, and Food to Spare
Frau Marianne Karlsruhe	32	A Matter of Fate
Frau Ursula Meyer-Semlies	54	National Socialism and Christianity
Frau Liselotte Otting	68	Retrospective Guilt
Frau Mathilde Mundt	83	The History Lesson
Frau Verena Groth	99	An “Exotic” Past
Frau Maria von Lingen	116	A Cosmopolitan View of the World
Frau Irene Burchert	137	Learning How Communism Works
Frau Charlotte (Lotte) Müller	155	Solidarity and Survival
Frau Ellen Frey	172	“We Did Love Our Führer, Really!”
Frau Ursula Kretzschmar	185	Before, During, and After the Firebombing
Frau Martha Brixius	197	The Ambivalence of Avoidance
Frau Margarete (Gretl) Sasowski	214	From the Emperor to a Mud Hole

Contents

Frau Barbara Amschel, Frau Anna Lieb, Frau Anna Maier	231	Rural Perspectives
Mrs. Freya von Moltke	245	A Modest Woman of the Resistance
Frau Erna Tietz	266	The Schisms of a “Flakwaffenhelferin”
Frau Anna Rigl	284	On Megalomaniacs and Little People
Frau Emmi Heinrich	299	Dissident Clergy and Dissident Actions
Frau Anna Fest	313	A Job in Its Own Category
Frau Karma Rauhut	342	A Child Not of the Times
Frau Anne Hepp	357	“A Very Unpolitical Woman”
Frau Doktor Margret Blersch	366	“I Was Alone. And I Had the Whole City Against Me.”
Frau Regina Frankenfeld	387	“I Am Never Dishonest.”
Frau Christine (Tini) Weihs	412	Life as a Cabaret
Frau Erna Dubnack	431	A Natural Matter of Friendship
Ms. Rita Kuhn	451	Talking about Silence
Conclusion	468
Glossary	477
Acknowledgments	481
Index	485	