

Contents

Preface and Acknowledgments	xi
Introduction	1
1 Rationalizing Production in Nineteenth-Century America	8
2 Industrial Engineers and Their “Master Machine”	36
3 The Human Machine: Engineers and Factory Welfare Work	55
4 Modernizing Factories in the Early Twentieth Century	76
5 The Crystal Palace: The Ford Motor Company’s Highland Park Plant, 1910–1914	95
6 The Rational Factory: Highland Park’s New Shop, 1914–1919	118
7 Ford’s Most Ambitious Machine: The River Rouge Plant, 1919–1935	137
Conclusion	161
Notes	171
Note on Sources	193
Index	195