

CONTENTS

Acknowledgments	ix
Part I: Introduction
1. Women Warriors in the War on Poverty	1
Part II: The U.S. War on Poverty
2. Contradictions of New Careers	39
3. Community Action in Differing Political Contexts	63
Part III: Motivations and Inspirations for Community Work
4. Pathways to Community Work	83
5. Activist Mothering, Community Caretaking, and Civic Work	109
Part IV: The Gendered Politics of Community Work
6. Dynamics of Race, Class, and Feminist Praxis	131
7. Intergenerational Continuity of Community Work	155
Part V: Conclusion: Lessons for a Renewed War on Poverty
8. Shifting Standpoints on Politics and the State	179
Appendices
A. Methodological Considerations	203
B. A Demographic Profile of the Community Workers Interviewed, 1983–1985	207
C. Don't Bother Voting in Poverty Elections, 1966	209

viii Contents

D. Amending the War on Poverty	210
E. Permissible and Prohibited Activities, PAAC 1966	212
F. Map of Philadelphia's Twelve Poverty Areas, 1965	215
G. Maximum Participation Movement, Philadelphia 1966	216

Notes	219
--------------	------------

References	249
-------------------	------------

Index	271
--------------	------------