

Foreword	v
Preface	vii
Violence – a universal challenge	1
The public health approach to violence	3
Defining violence	4
Typology of violence	4
Measuring violence	5
The impact of violence – lives lost and health harmed	6
The roots of violence – an ecological model	9
From analysis to action	10
The forms and contexts of violence	13
Interpersonal violence	13
Young people and violence	13
Violence against intimate partners	15
Child abuse and neglect by parents and other caregivers	16
Abuse of the elderly	17
Sexual violence	17
The dynamics of interpersonal violence	18
Self-directed violence	19
Magnitude of the problem	19
The dynamics of suicide	20
Collective violence	21
Magnitude of the problem	21
Consequences of collective violence	22
The dynamics of violent conflict	23
What can be done to prevent violence?	25
Individual approaches	25
Relationship approaches	26
Community-based efforts	27
Societal approaches	28
Some important gaps	28
Recommendations for action	31
Conclusion	35
References	37