PART I  The Postwar Acceleration

INTRODUCTION  3

1  NUKES, CONCORDES, AND ANXIETY  11

The French “Special Relationship” with High Technology

• Ambivalent Modernity  11
• Europe’s Nuclear Macho? Perceptions of France as a Relatively “Ungreen” Nation  13
• The Postwar Boom: Continuity vs. Discontinuity  15
• Technological Darwinism  18
• The Great Renewal  21
• Machine/Symbol: The Concorde  24
• The Role of Nuclear Technology within the National Discourse of Anxiety  28
• French Perceptions of the Rainbow Warrior Affair  33
2 ENDANGERED SPECIES:
   THE FRENCH PEASANT 38
   • The Rural Future: A Key Issue for the French Greens 38
   • Machine/Symbol: Le Cheval Vapeur (Farm tractor, or “Steam-Horse”) 41
   • The Cultural Backlash: In Search of a New Rural Balance 46
   • Territorial Balancing 49
   • French Uniqueness, French Ordinariness 52

PART II The Rise of Ecology
3 THE PREHISTORY OF ECOLOGICAL AWARENESS 57
   • Environmentalism and Ecology: Working Definitions 60
   • Nineteenth-Century Precursors in France: From “Acclimatation”
     to Conservation 64
   • From Utility to Beauty: The Early Twentieth Century 67
   • 1945–1960: Warnings Unheeded 71

4 THE UNEXPECTED TRAJECTORY OF ENVIRONMENTALIST SUCCESS 76
   • 1960–1974: Taking it to a New Level 76
   • 1974–1981: Eco-Quixote vs. Electricité de France 92
   • Machine/Symbol: The Nuclear Reactor 95
   • 1981–1989: Entering the Political Fray 104
   • 1989—present: “Tous Verts!”— “We are all environmentalists!” 109

5 NUANCES OF DARK GREEN 115
   The Intellectual Horizons of French Environmentalism
   • A Revolution against the Industrial Revolution 115
   • The Two Main Currents of French Green Thought 119
   • Social Environmentalism: Four Interlocking Agendas 122
   • What Is Distinctive about the French Green Visions? 130
PART III A Society Goes Light-Green

7 THE DUAL NATURE OF LIGHT-GREEN 161

- Nature Penetrating into Society—Machine/Symbol: The Train a Grande Vitesse 162
- Society Penetrating into Nature—Machine/Symbol: Brittany's Pointe du Raz 167

8 GREENING THE MAINSTREAM CONSUMER 172

Ironic Twists of a Partial Revolution
- Surface Change and Deep Change 172
- Back to Nature 175
- Eco-consumerism: The Overflowing Cornucopia of “Less is More” 177
- Eco-labels and “Eco-Friendliness” 186

9 THE ENVIRONMENTALIZATION OF THE STATE 190

- Anti-statism, More Government 190
- The Layer Cake of Green Governance: Six Levels, Three Modes 193
- Key State Actors, Key Legal Turning-Points 197

10 INDUSTRIALISTS AS ECOLOGISTS 210

- Factories and Big Business: New Constraints, New Strategies 210
- ISO-14000 and Eco-Audit: The Case of an Industrial Pioneer 212
- The New Eco-Professions: Expansion in the Tertiary Sector 215
11 ELUSIVE SUSTAINABILITY 218

A Territorial Balance Sheet
- The State of the French Territory: An Ecocentric Perspective 218
- The Anthropocentric Perspective: Is the Light-Green Society Sustainable as a Habitat for Humans? 227

PART IV The Future of Nature in a Light-Green World: Long-Term Global Implications

12 THE LIGHT-GREEN HORIZON 237

- Broader Implications of the French Story 237
- Humans and Nature on a Shrinking Earth 241

13 ARTIFICIALIZATION AND ITS DISCONTENTS 246

- The Rising Tide of Artifice 246
- Machine/Symbol: Biotechnologies 248
- La Gestion du Vivant: The "Management of All Living Things" 251

14 THE ENDURING MIRAGE OF WILDERNESS 256

Philosophies of Nature for a Technologically Intensive Age
- If Not the Dualism of Nature and Culture, then What? 257
- The Case for Hybridity: A World of Intertwinings 260
- The Case for Dualism: Wilderness as the Irreducible Other 265
- From Wilderness to Wildness: A Paradoxical Synthesis 269

15 THE SHIFTING LANDSCAPE OF TAME AND WILD 273

- Nature Penetrating into Society: Emerging Connectedness 273
- Society Penetrating into Nature: Ambiguous Control 276

16 A COSMIC WILDERNESS? 284

Cousteau's Grandchildren Swim the Rings of Saturn
CONCLUSION 291

- The Age of Ecology Arrives (But it is not what anyone expected) 291
- A Planet of Paysage? 293

NOTES 297
BIBLIOGRAPHY 341
INDEX 363