

French Social Theory

Mike Gane

SAGE Publications

London • Thousand Oaks • New Delhi

Contents

Preface	vii
Acknowledgements	x
The First Cycle, 1800–1879
The Birth of Social Theory: Altruism	1
1. The Post-revolutionary Void	3
2. Sacrificial Theory and the Sociology of Modernity	10
3. Theory in Crisis: Religion and the Subjective	26
4. The End of the First Cycle: Scholasticism	37
The Second Cycle, 1880–1939
The First Rebirth of Social Theory: Anomie	45
5. Social Theory Reborn	47
6. French Society: Vanguard without a Norm	60
7. Method in Crisis and the Resort to Theory in Suicide	73
8. End of Second Cycle: Anthropology and Religion	84
The Third Cycle, 1940–2000
The Second Rebirth of Social Theory: Hypertelia	99
9. Existential Theory	101
10. The Algerian War	113

11. From Pathology to Normativity	125
12. Structural Theory	137
13. Radical Theory and the End of the Social	152
14. Fin-de-cycle: Time of Counter-Strategies	162
Conclusion	175
Conclusion: Social Theory at the End of the Social	177
References	191
Index	200