

Penal theory and practice
Tradition and innovation in criminal justice

edited by

ANTONY DUFF, SANDRA MARSHALL,
REBECCA EMERSON DOBASH
AND RUSSELL P. DOBASH

MANCHESTER
UNIVERSITY PRESS

IN ASSOCIATION WITH THE FULBRIGHT COMMISSION, LONDON

DISTRIBUTED EXCLUSIVELY IN THE USA AND CANADA
BY ST MARTIN'S PRESS

Contents

List of figures and tables	viii
Notes on contributors	ix
Foreword JOHN E. FRANKLIN	xi
Acknowledgements	xii
Introduction	1

Part One Crisis and reform

1 Sentencing reform: its goals and prospects ANDREW VON HIRSCH	27
2 The UK penal crisis: where next? MICHAEL CAVADINO	42

Part Two Proportionality and parsimony

3 Proportionality, parsimony, and interchangeability of punishments MICHAEL TONRY	59
4 Hanging judges and wayward mechanics: reply to Michael Tonry IAN BROWNLEE	85
5 Desert, crime control, disparity, and units of punishment PAUL H. ROBINSON	93

Part Three The role of imprisonment

6 Catering to the public: prison policy in the nineties HANS TOCH	111
--	-----

- 7 Just prisons and responsible prisoners
ROD MORGAN 127
- 8 A customer-focused prison service in Scotland
ED WOZNIAK 146

Part Four Non-custodial punishments

- 9 Changing aims of the English probation system
BILL MCWILLIAMS 161
- 10 Community service: progress and prospects
GILL MCIVOR 171
- 11 Putting a price on harm: the fine as a punishment
PETER YOUNG 185

Part Five Violence against women

- 12 Criminal justice responses to violence against women
MARJORY D. FIELDS 199
- 13 Confronting domestic violence: an innovative criminal justice response in Scotland
DAVID MORRAN and MONICA WILSON 216

Part Six Informal justice

- 14 Reintegration through reparation: a way forward for restorative justice?
JAMES DIGNAN 231
- 15 Grassroots initiatives towards restorative justice:
the new paradigm?
TONY F. MARSHALL 245

Part Seven Abolitionism

16	The abolitionist approach: a British perspective JOE SIM	263
17	Abolition and the politics of bad conscience: a response to Sim ANDREW RUTHERFORD	285
18	Punishing the poor: a critique of the dominance of legal reasoning in penal policy and practice BARBARA A. HUDSON	292
	Appendix 1 Colloquium programme	306
	Appendix 2 Colloquium participants	308
	Index	310