Globalisation, Information and Libraries

The implications of the World Trade Organisation's GATS and TRIPS Agreements

RUTH RIKOWSKI

Chandos Publishing
Oxford · England

Contents

Foreword xiii

Acknowledgements xv

List of abbreviations xxiii

About the author xxvii

1 Introduction 1

PART 1 GLOBALISATION AND THE WORLD TRADE ORGANISATION

2 Globalisation and an overview of the WTO 9

2.1 Globalisation 9

2.2 Overview of the World Trade Organisation 17

2.3 Conclusion 31

PART 2 THE GENERAL AGREEMENT ON TRADE IN SERVICES

3 An overview of the GATS 35

3.1 Introduction 35

3.2 Historical perspective – GATT and the GATS 36

3.3 What is the General Agreement on Trade in Services? 38

3.4 Links between the GATS and the commercialisation, privatisation and capitalisation agenda of state-funded services 43

3.5 Summary 47

4 The GATS, libraries, information and cultural services within an international perspective 49

4.1 Introduction 49

4.2 Public goods, private goods and commodities 50

4.3 'Library service' categorisations in the GATS 57

4.4 Countries that have committed their library services to the GATS 61

4.5 Canada: libraries and the GATS 62

4.6 USA: libraries, cultural services and the GATS 69

4.7 Japan: libraries, education services and the GATS 70

4.8 Australia: libraries, cultural services and the GATS 72

4.9 New Zealand: libraries, education services and the GATS 77

4.10 The developing world: libraries, the digital divide and the GATS 78

4.11 India: libraries, education services and the GATS 81

4.12 South Africa: libraries, education services and the GATS 83

4.13 Europe: libraries and the GATS 85

4.14 The UK: libraries and the GATS 87

4.15 Chile, the USA and Singapore: multilateral free trade agreements and cultural services 95

4.16 Audio-visual industry and the GATS 96

4.17 Conclusion 97

5 Real-life examples of how the GATS is impacting on libraries in the UK 103

5.1 Introduction 103

5.2 The future role of public state-funded libraries in the UK 103

5.3 Implications of the GATS for libraries and information: the development of a framework 109

5.4 Commercialisation of libraries in the UK 114

5.5 Privatisation of libraries in the UK 125

5.6 Capitalisation of libraries in the UK 132

5.7 The national faces of the GATS in the UK 137

5.8 Conclusions 158

6 Positions taken by various library and cultural bodies on the GATS 161

6.1 Introduction 161

6.2 International Federation of Library Associations and Institutions 161

	6.3	British Columbia Library Association	167
	6.4	Canadian Library Association	168
	6.5	Other Canadian library bodies	168
	6.6	European Bureau of Library, Information and Documentation Associations	170
	6.7	American Library Association	171
	6.8	Writers' Guild of America, West	172
	6.9	Australian Library and Information Association	173
	6.10	Australian Writers' Guild	174
	6.11	The UK's Chartered Institute of Library and Information Professionals	175
	6.12	Library Association of Ireland	177
	6.13	Professional Associations from the Cultural Milieu	178
	6.14	Concluding comments: responses of library, information and cultural bodies to the GATS	179
	6.15	EBLIDA/IFLA meeting the WTO/European Commission to discuss GATS and libraries	180
	6.16	Concluding comments	183

PART 3 AGREEMENT ON TRADE-RELATED ASPECTS OF INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY RIGHTS

7	An outline of the WTO's Agreement on TRIPS		187
	7.1	Introduction	187
	7.2	Overview of the TRIPS Agreement	189
	7.3	Intellectual property rights	190
	7.4	Parts I and III–VII of the TRIPS Agreement	192
	7.5	Part II of the TRIPS Agreement (excluding copyright and patents)	197
	7.6	Should TRIPS belong to the WTO – is it part of trade?	200
	7.7	Summary	204
8	TRIPS, copyright, libraries and information		207
	8.1	Introduction	207

8.2 Historical perspective on copyright 208

8.3 Moral and economic rights in copyright for creators of works and copyright holders 214

8.4 The 'balancing act' in copyright and the library and information profession 220

8.5 Copyright in TRIPS (in Part II of the Agreement) 228

8.6 Moral rights and the copyright section of TRIPS 230

8.7 The balance in copyright and TRIPS 233

8.8 Conclusion 234

9 TRIPS, patents, traditional knowledge, information and libraries in the developing world 235

9.1 Introduction 235

9.2 Patents in TRIPS (in Part II of the Agreement) 235

9.3 TRIPS, patents, copyright and traditional, indigenous knowledge 236

9.4 TRIPS and the developing world 246

9.5 Conclusion 254

10 Implications of TRIPS for information and libraries internationally 255

10.1 Introduction 255

10.2 Implications of the TRIPS Agreement for the library and information profession 255

10.3 TRIPS: information and libraries internationally 276

10.4 Conclusion 286

PART 4 AN OPEN MARXIST THEORETICAL PERSPECTIVE ON GLOBAL CAPITALISM AND THE WORLD TRADE ORGANISATION

11 Implications of GATS and TRIPS: an Open Marxist approach 291

11.1 Introduction 291

11.2 Various possible explanations for the acceptance of the 'TINA' view of global capitalism 294

11.3 Developing social scientific theory 301

11.4 A Marxist theoretical analysis of the GATS, TRIPS and knowledge management in the knowledge revolution 302

11.5 TRIPS revisited 305

11.6 GATS revisited 306

11.7 An Open Marxist theoretical analysis of value and the commodity 307

11.8 Conclusion 312

12 The furtherance of global capitalism through the WTO 315

12.1 Introduction 315

12.2 Global capitalism, the knowledge revolution, intellectual labour, value and the WTO revisited 316

12.3 Global capitalism sustained by value, not morals 318

12.4 References in the business and information literature with regard to the extraction of value from knowledge and information 324

12.5 The extension of the commodification process: state-funded library services (through the GATS) and intellectual property rights (through TRIPS) being transformed into internationally tradable commodities 326

12.6 Intellectual property rights – transforming intellectual labour into intellectual capital 327

12.7 Conclusion 328

13 Conclusions 331

Bibliography 337

Index of authors 369

Index of places and organisations 373

Index of subjects 379