

Public Protection and the Criminal Justice Process

Mike Nash

OXFORD
UNIVERSITY PRESS

Contents

Abbreviations	ix
Foreword by Mr David Scott, Chief Officer National Probation Service (London)	xi
Introduction	1
1 Trying to Understand Dangerousness	11
2 Driving the Agenda 1—Sex Offenders and Sexual Crime	26
3 Driving the Agenda 2—Behaviour Causing Concern	46
4 Dangerous Severe Personality Disorder and Psychopathy	67
5 A Look into the Future—Predicting the Risk of Serious Harm	82
6 Legislating Against the Dangerous Offender	105
7 Legislating for Constraint—Tightening Controls in the Community	125
8 Working Together—Many Minds, One Voice?	147
9 Managing Risk in the Community	165
10 Dangerous Offender Versus the People—What Hope for Offender Rights?	176
11 Conclusion—Where Next for Public Protection?	194
APPENDICES
1 List of Relevant Legislative Developments in Public Protection	203
2 List of Recent Relevant Probation Circulars	207
3 A Synopsis of MAPPA Guidance	209
4 A Worked Example of Risk Management (Source: MAPPA Guidance, Home Office 2004)	213
References	215
Index	225