

CYBERCRIME AND SOCIETY

MAJID YAR

 SAGE Publications
London • Thousand Oaks • New Delhi

Contents

Preface	xi
Acknowledgements	xiii
1 Cybercrime and the Internet: An Introduction	1
1.1 Perceptions of cybercrime	2
1.2 Cybercrime: questions and answers	5
1.3 A brief history and analysis of the internet	6
1.4 Defining and classifying cybercrime	9
1.5 What's 'new' about cybercrime?	11
1.6 How many crimes? Assessing the scale of Internet offences	12
1.7 Challenges for criminology, criminal justice and policing	16
1.8 Summary	19
Study questions	20
Further reading	20
2 Hackers, Crackers and Viral Coders	21
2.1 Hackers and hacking – contested definitions	22
2.2 Representations of hackers and hacking: technological fears and fantasies	24
2.3 What hackers actually do : a brief guide for the technologically bewildered	27
2.4 Hacker myths and realities: wizards or button-pushers?	31
2.5 'Why do they do it?' Motivation, psychology, gender and youth	33
2.6 Hacking and the law: legislative innovations and responses	39
2.7 Summary	42
Study questions	42
Further reading	42

3	Political Hacking: From Hacktivism to Cyberterrorism	45
3.1	Introduction	46
3.2	Hacktivism and the politics of resistance in a globalised world	47
3.3	The spectre of cyberterrorism	50
3.4	Why cyber-terror ? Terrorist advantages of utilizing internet attacks	54
3.5	Rhetorics and myths of cyberterrorism	55
3.6	Alternative conjunctions between terrorism and the Internet	58
3.7	Summary	61
	Study questions	61
	Further reading	62
4	Virtual 'Pirates': Intellectual Property Theft Online	63
4.1	Introduction	64
4.2	Intellectual property, copyright and 'piracy': a brief guide for the bewildered	65
4.3	Scope and scale of 'piracy' activity	66
4.4	Explaining the growth of Internet 'piracy'	67
4.5	Who are the 'pirates'?	68
4.6	The development of 'anti-piracy' initiatives	69
4.7	Thinking critically about 'piracy' statistics	72
4.8	Thinking critically about intellectual property rights	73
4.9	Summary	76
	Study questions	77
	Further reading	77
5	Cyber-Frauds, Scams and Cons	79
5.1	Introduction	80
5.2	Scope and scale of online fraud	81
5.3	Varieties of online fraud	81
5.4	Online fraud: perpetrators' advantages and criminal justice's problems	90
5.5	Strategies for policing and combating Internet frauds	92
5.6	Summary	94
	Study questions	95
	Further reading	95

6	Illegal, Harmful and Offensive Content Online: From Hate Speech to Child Pornography	97
6.1	Introduction	98
6.2	Thinking about 'hate speech' online	99
6.3	Hate speech online	101
6.4	Legal, policing and political challenges in tackling online hate speech	103
6.5	The growth and popularity of internet pornography	105
6.6	Criminological issues relating to Internet pornography	107
6.7	Child pornography	112
6.8	Legislative and policing measures to combat online child pornography	113
6.9	Legal and policing challenges in tackling child pornography	115
6.10	Summary	119
	Study questions	119
	Further reading	120
7	The Victimization of Individuals Online: Cyberstalking and Paedophilia	121
7.1	Introduction	122
7.2	The emergence of stalking as a crime problem	123
7.3	Cyberstalking	127
7.4	Online paedophilia	131
7.5	Thinking critically about online victimization: stalking and paedophilia as moral panics?	133
7.6	Summary	136
	Study questions	136
	Further reading	137
8	Cybercrimes and Cyberliberties: Surveillance, Privacy and Crime Control	139
8.1	Introduction	140
8.2	From surveillance to dataveillance: the rise of the electronic web	141
8.3	The development of Internet surveillance	143
8.4	The Dilemmas of surveillance as crime control: the case of encryption	148
8.5	Summary	153

Study questions	153
Further reading	154
Glossary	155
Bibliography	161
Index	181