

Finding the Truth in the Courtroom

Dealing with Deception, Lies, and Memories

EDITED BY HENRY OTGAAR

AND

MARK L. HOWE

OXFORD
UNIVERSITY PRESS

CONTENTS

About the Editors vii

Contributors ix

1. Deception and Memory in the Courtroom: An Overview 1

Henry Otgaar and Mark L. Howe

PART I: Memory in the Courtroom

2. Misinformation in the Courtroom 11

Shari R. Berkowitz and Elizabeth F. Loftus

3. Suggestibility in the Courtroom: How Memory Can Be Distorted During the Investigative and Legal Process 31

Fiona Gabbert and Lorraine Hope

4. When Spontaneous Statements Should Not Be Trusted: False Memories in Children and Adults 59

Henry Otgaar and Mark L. Howe

5. A Neurobiological Account of False Memories 75

Vincent van de Ven, Henry Otgaar, and Mark L. Howe

PART II: Children in the Courtroom

6. Assessing the Veracity of Children's Forensic Interviews: Implications for the Courtroom 103

Hayden M. Henderson and Samantha J. Andrews

7. Putting Children's Memory and Suggestibility in their Place: An Analysis Considering Person, Topic, and Context 137

Deborah Goldfarb, Gail S. Goodman, Rakel P. Larson, Alejandra Gonzalez, and Mitchell L. Eisen

PART III: Deception in the Courtroom

8. Nonverbal Detection of Deception 163

Aldert Vrij

9. Building a Case: The Role of Empirically Based Interviewing Techniques in Case Construction 187

Timothy J. Luke, Maria Hartwig, Laure Brimbal, and Pär Anders Granhag

10. Detection Deception Using Psychophysiological and Neural Measures 209

*Ewout H. Meijer and Bruno VerschuerePART IV: Malingering in the Courtroom

11. Seven Myths About Feigning 227

Marko Jelicic, Harald Merckelbach, and Irena Bošković

12. False Symptom Claims and Symptom Validity Assessment 243

Thomas Merten

Index 265