Preface xiii

1 RATIONAL FASCISM 1

Fascism historically has been used to secure the interests of large capitalist interests against the demands of popular democracy. Then and now, fascism has made irrational mass appeals in order to secure the rational ends of class domination.

Plutocrats Choose Autocrats 2
Whom Did the Fascists Support? 6
Kudos for Adolph and Benito 10
The Rational Use of Irrational Ideology 11
Patriarchy and Pseudo-Revolution 14
Friendly to Fascism 17

2 LET US NOW PRAISE REVOLUTION 23

Revolutions are democratic developments that expand the freedoms of people who enjoyed no freedom under oppressive prerevolutionary regimes. Revolutions are a mass empowerment against the forces of exploitative privilege. They bring a dramatic reduction in political and economic oppression.

The Costs of Counterrevolution 24
Presumptions of Power 26
Whose Violence? 28
Free Market for the Few 31
The Freedom of Revolution 34
What Measure of Pain? 36

3 LEFT ANTICOMMUNISM 41

Like conservatives and reactionaries, most of the U.S. Left greeted communism in the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe with fear and loathing, and with idealized expectations that took no account of Western encirclement and the survival necessities of socialism under siege.

Genuflection to Orthodoxy 42
Pure Socialism vs. Siege Socialism 49
Decentralization vs. Survival 53

4 COMMUNISM IN WONDERLAND 59

The internal irrationalities and weaknesses of past communist economies and the systemic reasons why productivity stagnated and reforms were so difficult to effect.

Rewarding Inefficiency 59
Nobody Minding the Store 62
Wanting It All 65
Reactionism to the Surface 68
Romanticizing Capitalism 72

5 STALIN'S FINGERS 76

Newly published documentation on the gulag reveals a somewhat different picture of the repressive nature of communist systems, both in the past and in recent times. The historic accomplishments in economic development within communist countries represented a positive gain in the lives of hundreds of millions.

How Many Victims? 77
Where Did the Gulag Go? 81
Memories of Maldevelopment 84

6 THE FREE-MARKET PARADISE GOES EAST(I) 87

Repression by conservative forces in the former communist states in the name of "democratic reform." Privileges from pre-communist days restored to the old owning classes. Western investors plunder the public sector at great profit to themselves, reducing the former communist countries to Third World levels.

Suppression of the Left 87
One-Way Democracy 94
Must We Adore Vaclav Havel? 97
Colonizing the East 100

7 THE FREE-MARKET PARADISE GOES EAST(II) 105

The emergence of free-market rapacity and growing inequality, widespread crime, social maladies, and victimization, especially of women, children, the elderly, and the poor. The Third Worldization and cultural decay of formerly collectivist societies.

For Vipers and Bloodsuckers 105
Shock Therapy for the Many 108
Crime and Corruption 111
Cultural Decay 112
Women and Children Last 114
"We Didn't Realize What We Had" 116

8 THE END OF MARXISM? 121

Understanding the fundamental concepts and discoveries of a view of society and politics that today is more relevant than ever, helping us to overcome truncated modes of thought, teaching us to ask why things are as they are.

Some Durable Basics 122
More Right than Wrong 125
More Wealth, More Poverty 129
A Holistic Science 132
Learning to Ask Why 136

9 ANYTHING BUT CLASS: AVOIDING THE C-WORD 141

Class is more than a demographic category. Anything-but-class explanations of social realities invite us to deny the obvious links between wealth and power and the collision of ecology with capitalism.

The Class Denial of Class 141
The ABC Theorists 144
Everyday Class Struggle 149
Wealth and Power 152
Eco-Apocalypse, a Class Act 154
