Beyond Declaring Victory and Coming Home

THE CHALLENGES OF PEACE AND STABILITY OPERATIONS

EDITED BY
Max G. Manwaring
AND Anthony James Joes

Foreword by Ambassador William Walker

PRAEGER

Westport, Connecticut
London
Contents

Foreword by Ambassador William Walker vii
Preface xiii

I. Introduction 1

1. A Multiplicity of Threats, a Paucity of Options: The Global Security Environment at the End of the Twentieth Century 3
   Richard L. Millett

2. Defense and Offense in Peace and Stability Operations 19
   Max G. Manwaring and Edwin G. Corr

II. The Essential Internal “Defensive” Conditions that Lead to Mandated Peace and Stability with Justice 39

3. The Establishment of Order and the Rule of Law: Legitimacy in the Tradition of Non-Traditional Operations (NTOs) 41
   Thomas K. Adams

4. Isolating the Belligerents: A Key to Success in the Post-Counterinsurgency Era 55
   Anthony James Joes

5. Sustaining Life, Relieving Suffering, and Regenerating the Economy 67
   Arthur E. Dewey
III. Moving from the "Defense" to the Offense

6. Military Intelligence and the Problem of Legitimacy: Opening the Model
   Everett C. Dolman

   John T. Fishel

   Robert M. Herrick

9. Legitimate Civil Society and Conflict Prevention: Let's Get Serious
   Dayton L. Maxwell

IV. Coping with Chaos in the Post–Cold War High Operational and Strategic Security Environments

10. The Anarchic State vs. the Community of Nations: The Real Cleavage in International Security
    Michael J. Dziedzic

11. America Coping with Chaos at the Strategic Level: Facilitator for Democratic Stability in the Post-Counterinsurgency Era
    Joseph N. McBride

12. Responding to the Failed State: Strategic Triage
    Robert H. Dorff

V. Where to from Here?

13. Some Final Thoughts
    Edwin G. Corr and Max G. Manwaring

Index

About the Contributors