

A 345586

✓
SUSTAINABLE COMMUNITIES IN EUROPE

Edited by William M Lafferty

EARTHSCAN

Earthscan Publications Ltd
London • Sterling, VA

Contents

Figures, tables and boxes	vii
Foreword by Margot Wallström	ix
Preface	xi
About the contributors	xiii
Acronyms and abbreviations	xviii
Introduction	1
William M Lafferty
Local Agenda 21: The core idea	1
ICLEI and the Aalborg Charter	2
Implementing LA21 in Europe: Development of the SUSCOM project	4
The knowledge goals of the project	7
1 Sweden
Problems and prospects at the leading edge of LA21 implementation	15
Katarina Eckerberg
The status of LA21 in Sweden: An overview	16
National initiatives: The investment programme	18
Local initiatives: Participation and planning for sustainability	28
The future: Problems and prospects	33
2 Finland
In search of new implementation patterns	40
Anita Niemi-Ilahti
Introduction	40
The status of LA21 in Finland at the beginning of the 21st century	40
The national government's role in the implementation of a global policy	45
The municipalities' dilemma: How to take action?	48
Four case studies: How and why do LA21 processes advance?	50
Implementation of LA21 in Finland: Summary and challenges	53

3	Denmark
	The participatory and consensus-seeking approach of the Danish LA21	58
	Jesper Holm and Mercy Wambui Kamara
	Introduction	58
	Background	59
	Profiles, participation and new policy paradigms	64
	A pioneering municipality in LA21 activities: The case of Albertslund	70
	Conclusion	77
4	Norway
	LA21 as a means of interpreting and achieving sustainable production and consumption	83
	Carlo Aall
	Introduction	83
	The introduction of LA21 in Norway: From 'adaptor' to 'innovator'	84
	Towards standards for LA21 in Norway: The Sustainable Local Communities project	90
	Interpreting sustainable production and consumption locally	91
	Obstacles to sustainable consumption and production experienced by the municipalities	97
	Prospects and problems of LA21 in Norway	100
5	The United Kingdom
	Mainstreaming, mutating or expiring?	107
	Chris Church and Stephen Young
	The national status	107
	The overall goal of 'consulting with the community'	117
	Conclusion	125
6	Ireland
	Starting late: Building institutional capacity on the reform of sub-national governance?	130
	Gerard Mullally
	Introduction	130
	The difficulties facing a global-local reform in Ireland	135
	Prompting innovation or adapting existing reforms?	138
	Interpreting LA21	139
	Democratic experimentation and institutional mobilisation: Two cases of 'good practice'	144
	Conclusion	150

7	The Netherlands
	Probing the essence of LA21 as a value-added approach to sustainable development and local democracy	153
	Frans Coenen
	Introduction	153
	The status of implementation of LA21 in The Netherlands	154
	Goals and research questions	156
	Views of participants as an implementation factor	158
	Interpretation of LA21	159
	Conclusion	173
8	France
	LA21: A new tool for sustainable policies?	180
	Corrine Larrue, Cyria Emelianoff, Francesca Di Pietro and Laure Héland
	Introduction	180
	The implementation of LA21 in France	181
	LA21: A new way for developing sustainable local policies?	189
	LA21 practice: The cases of Grenoble, Grande-Synthe and Dunkirk	193
	Conclusion	202
9	Austria
	From eco-social market economy to LA21	206
	Michael Narodoslawsky and Andrea Grabher
	The status of LA21 in Austria	207
	An eco-social market economy	208
	The 'ecocity' approach in Graz: A pioneering LA21 in Austria	211
	Regional Agenda 21 in Styria: The influence of Austria's accession to the European Union on LA21 implementation	214
	Conclusion	218
10	Italy
	Converging pathways between central and local levels of government?	225
	Emiliano Ramieri, Jane Wallace-Jones and Rodolfo Lewanski
	Introduction	225
	LA21 and sustainable development in Italy	226
	Intergovernmental relations	233
	Horizontal interrelations: Networks and partnerships	236
	LA21 in Italy: What can we learn?	239

11	Spain
	LA21: A question of institutional leadership?	245
	Nuria Font, Francesca Gomila and Joan Subirats
	Introduction	245
	LA21 in Spain: A general profile	246
	Policy, process and product	247
	The exchange of cognitive resources and institutional leadership	253
	Lessons from the three experiences	260
	Conclusion	263
12	Conclusions and perspectives	266
	William M Lafferty and Frans Coenen
	Concepts and norms	266
	Process, plan, policy or product	268
	Overall achievement: Timing and rates of implementation	270
	National patterns and key variables	272
	Policy implications	280
	LA21 and democratic planning	287
	Assessing diversity: Standards and modes	291
	LA21 and subsidiarity	296
	Index	305