

PROBLEMATICS
of
MILITARY POWER

Government, Discipline and the Subject of Violence

A 354968

MICHAEL S. DRAKE

School of Economic and Social Studies, University of East Anglia

With a Foreword by Paul Hirst

FRANK CASS
LONDON • PORTLAND, OR

Contents

Acknowledgements	vi
Foreword by Paul Hirst	vii
Introduction	1
PART ONE: ANCIENT
1 Ancient Rome and Historical Sociology	13
2 The Roman Republic	22
3 The Imperial Order	50
4 From Pax Romana to the Order of Feud	70
PART TWO: MEDIEVAL
5 Medieval History and Historical Sociology	91
6 Encastellation	103
7 Three Orders of Violence	119
8 Medieval Formations: War-State and Law-State	144
PART THREE: LATE MEDIEVAL
9 The Hundred Years' War	165
10 A Military Domain	191
PART FOUR: EARLY MODERN
11 Two Sources of Military Modernity: Burgundy and the Swiss	217
12 Republic and Monarchy: Two Texts on Government, Discipline and the Subject of Violence	240
13 The Early Modern Army and Historical Sociology	257
14 Military Reformations	266
15 Military and Civil Society	286
16 Reflections	308
Select Bibliography	319
Index	326