Foreword	7
Introduction: Writing to Cope with Terrorism	9

CHAPTER 1: WHAT MOTIVATES A TERRORIST?

1. Fighting the Oppressor Is Doing the Work of God	15
---	----

by Hizbullah

In a letter to the pope, a spokesperson for the Arab party of Hizbullah pleads with the holy man to understand that the Palestinian crusade is a spiritual one.

2. The Hypocritical Americans Deserve Their Punishment	20

by Osama bin Laden

When Arabs die in their fight to break free of American oppression, few tears are shed, but when America is attacked on its own soil, the hypocritical nation rears indignantly.

3. The U.S. Government Is Tyrannical and Hypocritical	23
--	----

Part I: Timothy McVeigh, interviewed by Patrick Cole; Part II: Timothy McVeigh

The perpetrator of the Oklahoma City bombing argues that when an act of terrorism occurs on U.S. soil, the government is quick to declare it a despicable and immoral act, even though the government perpetrates these exact types of crimes throughout the world.

4. Following the Words of a Spiritual Master	30

by Hidetoshi Takahashi, interviewed by Haruki Murakami

A member of Aum Shinrikyo confesses that while he did not participate in the subway gas attacks in Japan, he can understand how he might have been influenced to do so if he were among the disciples chosen.

CHAPTER 2: WITNESSES AND SURVIVORS OF TERRORIST ACTIONS

- 1. Helping Other Passengers During the Tokyo Subway Gas Attacks 39
by Naoyuki Ogata
A computer maintenance worker describes how he joined with others to aid victims and to help other survivors get out of the subway.
- 2. Rising Above the Tragedy of the Oklahoma City Bombing 44
by Richard Williams
Having survived the bomb blast that destroyed the Murrah Federal Building in 1995, a maintenance worker describes his rescue from being trapped under the building's rubble, his subsequent recovery from his injuries, and his involvement in creating a lasting memorial.
- 3. Losing a Sister in the Kenyan Bombing 48
by Mellina Fanouris
A Greek woman explains the events that took place when Muslim terrorists detonated a bomb at the U.S. embassy in Kenya in 1998. She describes her reactions when she learned that her beloved sister was killed in the blast.
- 4. Duty First During the 9/11 Attack on the Pentagon 52
by Janet Deltuva
An air force major inside the Pentagon on September 11, 2001, describes both the chaos that followed the plane attack as well as her reaction to the event.
- 5. Getting Out of Tower One on 9/11 59
by Gerry Gaeta
A Port Authority architect recounts his escape from the eighty-eighth floor of the World Trade Center's North Tower after it was struck by a plane on September 11, 2001.

6. Desperate but Thwarted Rescue Efforts on 9/11 67

by Bertram Springstead, interviewed by Jon Malkin

A firefighter on scene in the wake of the attacks on the World Trade Center narrates the emergency response efforts of fire crews as they tried to work their way up the damaged towers.

7. Living in Occupied Ramallah 75

by Islah Jad

While the Israelis claim that the occupation of Ramallah is necessary to curb terrorism, the author contends that the stress of surviving under martial law prompts many to fight back in any way they can.

8. Mourning a Victim of a Palestinian Bomber 80

by Dina Pinner

A friend of a suicide bombing victim in Jerusalem grieves at the injustice of Palestinian terror attacks. She wonders if the Palestinians mourn for the loss of those who destroy themselves and others in such a dastardly manner.

CHAPTER 3: REMEMBRANCE AND RETRIBUTION

1. At the Trial of the Kenyan Bombing Suspects 86

by Mellina Fanouris

The sister of a victim of the bombing of the U.S. embassy in Kenya was present at the trial of the suspects in New York in April 2001. She is surprised to see that they show no remorse for their heinous deed.

2. The Execution of Timothy McVeigh 90

by Members of the Media

On June 11, 2001, Timothy McVeigh was executed for his part in the Oklahoma City bombing. Several news correspondents witnessed the execution and discuss their reactions to the event.

3. Visiting Ground Zero

96

by Robert Klein Engler

A visitor to New York decides to make the pilgrimage to Ground Zero, the site of the ruins of the World Trade Center. He fears that the significance of the event might be lost on those who are unconcerned with “politics” and forgotten by those who were untouched by it.
