

Unravelling Migrants as Transnational Agents of Development

Social Spaces
in between Ghana and Germany

edited by

Thomas Faist and Nadine Sieveking

SUB Hamburg

A 2011/ 9492

---

LIT

Table of Contents

Table of Contents	v
List of Tables	vii
List of Figures	vii

Preface	1
----------------	---

Thomas Faist and Nadine Sieveking

1 Unravelling Migrants as Transnational Agents of Development: A Contribution to the Emerging Research Field of the Transnational Social Question	5
--	---

Thomas Faist

2 Business on the Move, Business on the Run: The Meaning of Geographic Mobility for Transnational Small Business	29
---	----

David Bühlmeier, Jana Goetzke and Andre Di Salvo

3 Returned Graduates and their Ties: Mechanisms of Social Support	69
--	----

Annett Bochmann and Daniel Daroussis

4 Chief Abroad: Transnational Chieftaincy and Village Organisation in Ghana	105
Arne Michels and Stefan Möhl
5 Building Bridges in the Name of God	145
Julia Aßhorn and Sarah Becker
6 ‘We are Not Equal!’: Methodological Reflections on Conducting Research on Migrants as Development Actors	187
Nadine Sieveking
List of Contributors	219
Index	221