Ciarán Michael Casey

Policy Failures and the Irish Economic Crisis
Contents

1 Introduction 1

2 An Irish Depression 9

1 What Happened to Ireland? 10

1.1 The Credit Boom 12

1.2 The Property and Construction Boom 14

1.3 Fiscal Policy 16

1.4 Competitiveness 16

2 International Context and EMU 17

3 The Banking and Wright Reports 22

4 Theoretical and Ideological Explanations 25

5 The History of Asset Bubbles and Financial Crises 28

6 Behavioural Explanations 32

7 Political and Institutional Explanations 35

  7.1 Banking and Bank Regulation 36

  7.2 Politics and Fiscal Policy 39

8 Prediction 40

9 Conclusion 41

3 International Organisations 45

1 Introduction 45

2 Competitiveness 49

3 Property and Construction 51
4 The Financial Sector 59
5 Fiscal Policy 62
6 Conclusion 66

4 Domestic Organisations 71
1 Introduction 71
2 Property and Construction 74
3 Fiscal Policy 83
4 Competitiveness 85
5 The Financial Sector 89
6 Conclusion 95

5 Academia 101
1 Introduction 101
2 Institutional Context 104
3 Origins and Interpretations of the Celtic Tiger 107
4 Competitiveness and Fiscal Policy 112
5 Property and Construction 115
6 Finance 122
7 Predictions 123
8 Conclusion 127

6 The Newspapers 133
1 Introduction 133
2 The Propaganda Model and the Mercille Application 137
3 Experts 146
4 Property and Construction 152
4.1 The Irish Times 152
4.2 The Irish Independent 158
4.3 David McWilliams 161
4.4 'The Ireland That We Dreamed of' 162
4.5 The Economist 163
4.6 Nominal Price Falls, Advice to Individuals, and Internal Expertise 165
5 The Financial Sector 169
6 Competitiveness and Inflation 172
7 Fiscal Policy 176
8 Conclusion 179
7 Politics

1 Introduction  183
2 Irish Politics in the Twenty-First Century  184
3 Fianna Fáil and the PDs  189
4 Inflation and Fiscal Policy  198
5 Property and Construction  204
6 Intergenerational Aspects and the Kenny Report  209
7 The Financial Sector  216
8 Conclusion  221

8 Conclusion  225

Bibliography  237

Index  249