Seafood Supply Chains
Governance, Power and Regulation

Miriam Greenwood
Contents

List of figures vii
List of tables viii
Preface and acknowledgements ix
List of acronyms x
Foreword xiii

1 Governance and its seafood objectives 1

Introduction: why governance matters for seafood 1
The role of the state and food 5
Supply chain governance theories 7
Agents of governance for the seafood chain in Britain 11
Book outline 16

2 Governance and change in food chains 21

Introduction 21
The UK seafood chain transformation 22
Governance in food chains 25
Governance factors in seafood chains 28
Governing food consumption 34
Governance of the seafood chain in Britain – a model 40

3 Achieving sustainable supply 51

Changes in supply from fishing 51
Fishery regulation and the issue of sustainability 55
UK governance of fishing 64
A new governance tool for fishing: certification 71
Governance of aquaculture production 75
Contents

Future supply 89
Conclusions: governance and seafood supply 92

4 Achieving seafood safety and quality 116

Introduction 116
Defining quality and safety in seafood 117
Quality and food safety at sea 119
Food safety and quality in farmed seafood 126
Achieving quality in farmed seafood 131
Seafood distribution and processing 135
Food safety and quality in processing and distribution 139
Power in seafood supply chain relationships 165
Conclusions: the balance of public and private governance 169

5 Governing seafood consumption 188

Introduction 188
Seafood consumption trends 189
The discourse of seafood and health 196
Impact of the seafood health message 208
Influences on consumer attitudes to seafood 210
Encouragement 212
Conclusions: governance of seafood consumption 224

6 Governance at the end of the supply chain: seafood retailing and foodservice 240

Retail and the governance of consumer supply 240
Foodservice and the governance of consumer supply 254
Conclusions about governance at the end of the chain 265

7 Conclusions: governance and power in the seafood supply chain 278

Impacts of governance changes 278
Brexit and the governance of the seafood supply chain 287
The seafood chain and governance theories 291

Index 302